School Department seeking $2.6M increase in 2002 budget

By CHARLOTTE COOPER

WILMINGTON - Fiscal Year 2002 promises to be a challenging one for the Wilmington School Department, for it is seeking an increase of $2.6 million from its 2001 budget, but may be limited to receiving only $1.3 million. In Fiscal Year 2001, the school department's budget stood at approximately $21.5 million.

When the School Committee met on Wednesday, January 9, budget presentations centered on the basics for the funding of primary and intermediate schools throughout the system. Increased enrollment in the local elementary schools and programs revolving around early childhood education, athletics and Special Education are responsible for the majority of the needed increase.

"Requests were prioritized," Kevin A. Mahoney, the Director of Administration and Finance, informed the committee.

In addition to the aforementioned expenses, costs related to collective bargaining issues, special education tuition, security and improvements in communication also fuel the need for a budget increase.

Costs associated with equipment and other needs to outfit the new high school wing could be funded through the capital project account. Grants will continue to be pursued. Mr. Mahoney estimates that approximately $400,000 will be realized through a combination of a budgetary surplus, teacher retirements and associated tuition funding from the extended day programs.

"It has been a collective effort doing these budgets," said Mr. Mahoney. "We worked closely with the administration to ensure delivering equitable services throughout the system."

The proposed budget calls for a fourth grade teacher and funds for curriculum resources and classroom materials at the North Intermediate School. The addition of the teacher would reduce classroom size at the North Intermediate School from approximately 26 students to 23. At the Woburn Street School, it is hoped that the 2002 budget can provide for the hiring of three education assistants who can help maintain healthy class sizes there as well.

The 2002 school budget also hopes to secure more part-time

Armata makes bid for Senate seat

By SHAWN P. SULLIVAN

WILMINGTON - One of Wilmington's own has thrown his hat into the political ring, in the hopes that his candidacy will carry him all the way to the State Senate in November.

Andrew Armata, a 1995 graduate of Wilmington High School, will run as a Democrat this fall and attempt to claim the seat currently occupied by Senator Bruce Tarr, who will be seeking his fifth consecutive term in the state legislature.

Armata, 24, has never sought public office before, but he says that his youthfulness is a plus, not a minus.

"My youthful energy is a bonus, not a hindrance," says Armata. "I am a guy who has never been afraid to do the things that I can do. The people of Wilmington need someone to represent them who is bold and decisive and innovative."

Armata graduated with a degree in Criminal Justice from Northeastern University in 2000. In the time since, he has been employed as a paralegal at the law firm Campbell, Campbell, Edwards & Conroy in Boston. He also owns a small landscaping company, a fact that he cites to underscore what will be a major theme in his campaign.

"We need to focus on small businesses to get us out of this economic recession," says Armata. "Small businesses are the lifeline of a successful and vibrant economy."

It is the economy that Armata declares as his "number one" concern. Education, vows the candidate, will also play a major role in the messages that he hopes to carry to the voters.

"For starters, I don't think

Moratorium push upstages Master Plan presentation

By SHAWN P. SULLIVAN

WILMINGTON - At first, it seemed as though the big story of the night at the Board of Selectmen meeting on Monday, January 14, was going to be the presentation and discussion of the Master Plan by the Master Plan Committee. Then Selectman Michael McCoy was granted the floor, so that he could renew his push for a development moratorium, and the night morphed into what would become, in the end, a four-hour backside-buster.

Selectman McCoy presented to his fellow board members a petition for a question that he is hoping can find its way onto this spring's election ballot. The petition, which boasts more than the ten signatures of registered voters needed to make it official, would pose this question to local voters: "Do you favor a town-wide moratorium limited only to new residential and new commercial developments for a period of five years, so that the town can catch up with its present growth, during which time the town may review the Master Plan and related quality-of-life issues?"

As McCoy proposed it, the ballot question would be non-binding, which means that its result would serve only to inform the Board of Selectmen of the public's wishes in regards to new growth in the community.

According to McCoy, such a moratorium is needed because only 1,200 buildable lots remain in town and development on them could exacerbate the community's water needs and force a hook-up to the Massachusetts Water Resource Authority (MWRA).

Membership in the MWRA "comes with a price tag between $5 and $8 million," said McCoy, who added, "I don't think that's a marriage that we'd like to embrace."

It was an argument McCoy posed to his fellow selectmen when they last met on December 10, and it was one that all of them rejected by not seconding his motion to vote whether or not to put the question on the ballot this spring. At the meeting on Monday night, nothing had changed, for McCoy posed his motion one more time and the opportunity

Teen found "not guilty" in bomb threat case

By SHAWN P. SULLIVAN

WILMINGTON - The teenager who was charged with making a false bomb threat against Wilmington High School last spring has been found "not guilty" by a judge at Woburn District Court.

The verdict was reached by Judge Phyllis Brokar on Wednesday, January 9, after she had reviewed the facts of the case and heard arguments posed to her by a prosecutor and the youth's defense attorney in her private chambers. The judge's decision cannot be appealed.

Once Judge Brokar delivered her decision, a jury was impaneled that Wednesday afternoon, so that two other charges brought against the juvenile could be presented. The charges involved one count of defacing school property and one count of disrupting school assembly. During the jury trial, Wilmington High School Principal Edward Woods and Deputy Chief Robert Spencer testified. Both witnesses gave their accounts of the developments and events that followed the discovery of the words "bomb" and "May 14" that the teenager had written on a bathroom wall at the high school. In the presence of authorities, school administrators and his own mother, the teenager admitted to committing the crime, which is a felony.

On the morning of Thursday, January 10, the jury returned with a mixed verdict. The jurors found the juvenile "guilty" of defacing school property and "not guilty" of disrupting school assembly.

According to authorities, the "not guilty" verdict rendered

WHS student newspaper - 'The Wildcat News'

Extra, Extra! Read all about us!

By STACEY E. STEVENS

WILMINGTON - Allow us to introduce you to the students at Wilmington High School who have, shall we say, the "write" stuff.

The Wilmington High School Wildcat News, the student newspaper now in its thirteenth season, is the product of a team effort of about fifteen talented students and three faculty advisors.

Once students complete their articles, their work passes through a chain of teachers before reaching news stands throughout the school. Mrs.

Joyce Beckwith, for example, approves and edits the articles written by student staffers. Mrs. Marie Shack takes care of all of the artwork and assists with the layout of the paper. Mrs. Kathleen Bell completes the layout of the newspaper. Principal Edward Woods gives the final approval before each issue goes to print. Ms. Peggy Powers prints out copies of the paper in the school's copy center, and Mrs. Bell oversees the paper's distribution.

The paper gets distributed on a monthly basis at the school cafeteria during lunchtime, while additional copies are made available to the student body through the library and the superintendent's office.

Recently, five student writers, Mrs. Bell, and Mrs. Shack were on hand to discuss what goes on behind the scenes at The Wildcat News.

Senior Mark Kilgore, who serves as editor, has been with the paper since his freshman year of high school.

"I get all of the complaints," he quips.

RMLD to conduct own audit

By SHAWN P. SULLIVAN

WILMINGTON - Selectmen Chairman Robert Cain has contacted officials at Reading Municipal Light Department and has established the town's support of the independent audit that will be conducted in regards to the power company's recent credit card expenditures.

The need for an audit was prompted in December by a report from Inspector General Greg Sullivan that alleged that a few RMLD staffers had made "lavish" and "extravagant" purchases at the expense of rate payers.

"Having an independent audit of these matters is critical to the integrity of the Reading Municipal Light Department," said Chairman Cain.

Cain also recognized the recent formation of a task force, which was charged with the responsibility of seeking out the firm that would conduct

Junta convicted of manslaughter

CAMBRIDGE - On Friday, January 11, a Middlesex Superior Court jury convicted Thomas Junta, 42, of Reading, in connection with the death of Michael Costin, then 40, of Lynnfield. Junta was found guilty of manslaughter. He is scheduled to be sentenced on January 25, 2002.

"The events of July 5, 2000, were a terrible tragedy, the effects of which are still being felt to this day," said Middlesex District Attorney Martha Coakley. "One father was lost, another has been convicted of a homicide. It is our hope that this verdict will allow those who knew and loved Michael Costin to begin the healing process, and will mark the conclusion of a difficult chapter in the lives of everyone affected by this case."

On July 5, 2000, Junta and Costin were at the Burbank Ice Arena in Reading, with their children. According to authorities, Junta approached Costin concerning a disagreement about the conduct of their children on the ice, a brief physical encounter ensued, and Junta was asked to leave the rink. He left with his son and two of his son's friends still in the Ice Arena. When he returned, he again encountered Costin, and they became embroiled in a second altercation. Costin was subsequently transported to the Lahey Clinic Medical Center where he was hospitalized in a coma. He was declared dead on July 7. At autopsy, the State Medical Examiner's Office (ME) determined that Costin's death resulted from head and neck trauma sustained during the second altercation. The ME ruled the manner of death a homicide.

On July 10, Junta was arrested by State police assigned to the Middlesex District Attorney's Office and Reading police. He was indicted by a Middlesex Grand Jury on August 10, 2000. His trial began on January 2, 2000, with jury selection and lasted for eight days. The jury deliberated for approximately 13 and 1/2 hours before returning their verdict. He was found guilty of involuntary manslaughter by a Middlesex Superior court jury at approximately 6 p.m.

"This case presented the jury with a series of challenging factual and legal issues, including complex and sometimes graphic medical, visual, and testimonial evidence about the injuries sustained by Michael Costin and the altercation that precipitated his death," District Attorney Coakley said. "We are confident that in finding Thomas Junta responsible for Michael Costin's death the jury carefully considered all of the evidence presented at trial by both the Commonwealth and the defense. We are pleased with their verdict."

Junta is scheduled to be sentenced at January 25, at 9 a.m. in courtroom 10B of the Middlesex Superior Court, in Cambridge. Manslaughter carries a penalty of up to 20 years in state prison. Middlesex Superior Court Judge Charles Grabau is presiding. The prosecutor assigned to the case is Assistant District Attorney Sheila Calkins.

WHAT KIND OF BUSINESS ENTITY?

It probably didn't matter how you set up your business when you opened your first lemonade stand with the youngster next door. But today, when your business interests are larger, the business entity you choose affects your legal protection and your taxes.

Simplest of all is a sole proprietorship: one owner gets all the profits but is responsible for any liabilities the company incurs. Income or losses are reported on the owner's individual tax return.

Two or more owners are assumed to be a partnership; each is fully responsible for any profits or liabilities and holds equal authority. Partnerships pay no taxes; profits or losses are reported and taxed on individual returns. A safer option: the limited liability company or partnership which offers legal protection like a corporation but is taxed like a partnership.

Corporations have many legal advantages but are taxed on their income. An S corporation cuts out one layer of federal income tax.

What's best for you? Let us guide you through the thicket of business entity options. Small businesses depend on us at

WHAT KIND OF BUSINESS ENTITY?

It probably didn't matter how you set up your business when you opened your first lemonade stand with the youngster next door. But today, when your business interests are larger, the business entity you choose affects your legal protection and your taxes.

Simplest of all is a sole proprietorship: one owner gets all the profits but is responsible for any liabilities the company incurs. Income or losses are reported on the owner's individual tax return.

Two or more owners are assumed to be a partnership; each is fully responsible for any profits or liabilities and holds equal authority. Partnerships pay no taxes; profits or losses are reported and taxed on individual returns. A safer option; the limited liability company or partnership which offers legal protection like a corporation but is taxed like a partnership.

Corporations have many legal advantages but are taxed on their income. An S corporation cuts out one layer of federal income tax.

What's best for you? Let us guide you through the thicket of business entity options. Small businesses depend on us at

Lock 'Em Up!

Whenever I visit my hometown in Maine, I am always given a rough time by one of my friends whenever I lock my car before leaving it behind in his driveway or a space in a parking lot. "Where do you think you are?" he likes to ask me. "Boston?"

The idea, of course, is that my home state of Maine is a wonderful, Norman Rockwellian utopia where all folks are decent and would not set foot into a car that does not belong to them. Nonetheless, my friend's joke is a curious one for him to make, given that he is a driving instructor who teaches teenagers all things related to vehicle safety and security. His good-natured barb also suggests that he has never flipped through the pages of some of the police logs that circulate down here in the suburbs of Boston.

This past week was a particularly nasty one when it came to criminals forcing their way into vehicles parked at homes, rummaging through their glove compartments, throwing a few things around and making off with loose change, pocketbooks and compact discs. A peek at the Wilmington Police Log will reveal numerous incidents on - try not to run out of breath as you rattle off this list - Liberty Street, Bancroft Street, Pershing Street, Wilson Street, Arlene Avenue, Catherine Avenue, Heather Drive, Barbara Avenue, Fairmeadow Road, Lang Street, Marcia Road and Carter Lane.

Based on reports, all of these violated vehicles seem to have one thing in common: They were unlocked on the nights during which they were illegally entered. None of the incidents logged into the police reports reveal a broken window or a jimmied lock.

My friend up in Maine is the kind of guy who always has a fact and a statistic on hand about whatever it is under the sun that is being discussed. One of these days - just for kicks, I'm going to call him on some of these facts and stats that he shares with such self-appointed authority. My friend, however, does frequently cite one "statistic" about which I will never challenge him to reveal where he learned such a thing.

Says my friend, "Statistics show that a locked car door is enough to deter a thief from breaking into it and stealing something."

A glimpse at this week's police log would suggest that it would be awfully difficult to disagree with my buddy on that one.

Visit to Ground Zero

Turning the corner, the site comes into view;
The tv pictures are so painfully true.
Gone is the mountain of rubble and debris;
And yet it is still clear in my memory
Tall buildings look down on this void in this city;
No longer will it be a town without pity.

From a viewing platform, the site draws near;
But the sound of silence is all that I hear.
As flags draped on buildings whip in the wind;
The devastation is difficult to comprehend.
I see the lady in the harbor standing tall;
Proud of her children who had to give all.

So ends my visit to Ground Zero;
The final resting place of many a hero.

Class of 1981 reunion enjoyed by many

Dear Editor:

The Wilmington High School Class of '81 recently had their 20th Reunion on November 23, 2001. It was held at the Hillview Country Club in North Reading. There were over 120 people who came from near and far to enjoy a night of dinner, dancing, and reminiscing. About 75 percent of the class still lives in Massachusetts, with about 70% of those living right in Wilmington. Nearly 10% are living in New Hampshire. Those who came from far away included Penny Scozzaro (Florida), Janet Kerrigan (Michigan), Rick Ballou (NC), Lisa Bognore Coolbaugh (PA), and Susan Gedney Cunio (VA).

Ms. Joyce Aldrich, who taught English then and recently retired last summer, stopped by for a quick but special visit to say hello to some of her old students. Mr. Kelly, another favorite teacher, was unfortunately unable to come because he was attending another WHS reunion (class of '76's 25th)! President of the class Kathy McClanahan Gallucci and Vice President Heidi Wiberg Hastings planned and organized the event. Heidi remarked, "There's a lot of background work involved in terms of gathering everyone's current addresses, trying to find 'lost' people, and doing the mailings, but in the end, it's very rewarding to see it all come together and be a success."

Part of their success was a raffle that Heidi and Kathy put together. By soliciting donations for raffle items, they were able to make some money for the class account. Their very generous donors include Lucci's supermarket, Eastgate liquors, and Elia's. There was also a super Italian gourmet food basket from the Chocolate Suite in North Reading, and a gift Certificate to Caffè Amore Restaurant, also of North Reading. Both the Chocolate Suite and Caffè Amore and owned and run by a fellow classmate, Ginny Pereira Guerriero. Another classmate, Kevin Mace, is the owner of two restaurants. Kevin generously donated gift certificates to The Village Inn in Dracut, and to Gatherings in Billerica.

Another classmate, Pam Tilton Wamala, who is an accomplished artist, donated one of her paintings to the raffle. Mark Venuti (WHS Class of '79), owner of Good Fine Tunes.com, did an excellent job of DJ-ing the event, mixing fun songs of today and from the 80's. Heidi's father, Hugh Wiberg, was the "unofficial/official photographer" for the evening, capturing many great candid smiles.

Kathy and Heidi, on behalf of the whole class, would like to thank all the local people and business for their wonderful contributions. They would also like to thank the Town Crier for posting all of their reunion reminders in the papers.

Sincerely,
Heidi Wiberg Hastings

Cheap shots and bad traffic

Dear Editor:

I would like to comment on Monday's selectmen's meeting. A woman got up and spoke of the rapid development of this town. She made a comment that if our water supply were not being stretched to the limit, then why is it that she cannot water her lawn and gardens without restriction? Our Board of Selectmen has still failed to address her question. They rather moved on to other residents. A common ploy they have adopted in order to avoid a question they cannot answer without admitting they are wrong. I lived in Tewksbury and remember being relieved to cross into Wilmington because I could drive around town without getting caught in traffic. Today I cannot get down Route 38 in less than 20 minutes. I have seen the selectmen listen to the concerns of the townspeople and many times totally ignore them. The selectmen have repeatedly done exactly what they wanted to do.

Mr. McCoy continues to challenge the other selectmen because he cares about our town and the people in it. I wish I felt that way about the other four. I feel that on its face the Master Plan looks good, but if you examine it for what it is worth, there are many problems with it.

What is so wrong about letting the people of this town speak their opinions on a non-binding ballot question? If the people decide that the development in this town is too rapid, then slow it down. The Master Plan itself states that 71 percent of the residents polled feel that Wilmington is growing too fast.

Mr. Cain, you indicate that Frank West, a Realtor in town did not want any new people in town because he supports a moratorium or at the very least wants to let the voters tell the selectmen what they want. It sounds to me that he wants what is best for the town as a whole, not for one person and I respect him for it. We both know that remark was and remains not only a cheap shot but a ridiculous comment. In fact, you shut him up because he was making sense and that scared you. If Frank West was looking out for his own interests, then he would want this plan to proceed, as it would undoubtedly increase his business in the long run. Is this what you have reduced yourself to - cheap shots and trying to intimidate people?

RMLD should do audit

Dear Editor:

This letter explains why the Reading Municipal Light Board (Light Board) cannot agree to the wishes of the Reading Selectmen and others and accept an audit of the Reading Municipal Light Department (RMLD) initiated by the Reading Selectmen or others. Rather, the Light Board must initiate its own audit.

In December, 2001, the Inspector General of the Commonwealth issued a scathing report (Report) on a number of practices within the RMLD.

One response to the Report has been the creation of a task force by the Town, the RMLD Overnight Task Force (Task Force) to review the Report and RMLD practices. The members of the Task Force consist of two Reading Selectmen, two RMLD Board members, two Reading Finance Committee members and one member of the RMLD Citizens' Advisory Board (CAB).

The Task Force has recommended the initiation of a forensic audit of the RMLD. All members of the Task Force agree on the need for a forensic audit.

The Selectmen and others want the forensic auditor to be hired by the Town and want the Light Board to await the outcome of the Town's audit before taking further action.

The scope of authority of the Light Board extends over the entire RMLD, and the scope of the RMLD extends over the entire utility, which includes the towns of Wilmington and North Reading, as well as Lynnfield Center. Thus, the scope of the utility is much, much broader than the Town of Reading.

While the Town of Reading has substantial latitude in how it chooses the members of the Light Board, once the choice is made, the Town has very little authority over the Light Board, and practically none over the utility itself. The Selectmen and Town Accountant are responsible for oversight of the RMLD if and when expenditures are criminal. No allegations of criminal behavior were made in the Report.

The Light Board cannot, as a matter of law, delegate its authority to the Board of Selectmen or any other town department or agency. To permit the Town's audit to go forward with no audit by the Light Board would, by default, create such delegation.

Through the Task Force, the Chairman of the Light Board has asked for a finding by Town Counsel that either the Selectmen or the Task Force can perform the duties of the Light Board and undertake the audit. No such statement has been received. On the other hand, RMLD Counsel has reiterated that the Light Board cannot delegate its authority to the Town or the Task Force in this matter.

The Light Board has a statutory responsibility to act, and the Town has none.

But there is more. Because the Light Board is responsible for overseeing the RMLD, if a determination is made that criminal wrongdoing had occurred, and the Light Board had taken no action, then the Light Board itself could be held liable for its failure to act. Worse yet, individual members might be held personally accountable for their inaction.

So, from the standpoint of both proper oversight and personal liability, the Light Board cannot do nothing while waiting for the Town's audit. The Light Board must initiate its own audit of the RMLD.

While the Light Board accepts the political reality that the Board of Selectmen is perceived as more credible, there is no legal imperative for the Town of Reading to act, and there is no practical reason why the Town audit needs to go forward at this time. However, there are several reasons why the Light Board must initiate its audit.

The Light Board asks that the Town support the actions that the Light Board must legally take.

Very truly yours,
Allan E. Ames, Chairman
Reading Municipal Light Board

Whitefield School as town hall? YES!

Dear Editor:

In response to last week's letter to the editor regarding ideas for Whitefield School (as new town hall) - what a great idea!

It would be much more accessible, seen by more traveling people, very quaint and historic etc. I am completely in favor of this idea and would like to know how I can help to move forward with this subject - i.e. write to our Board of Selectmen, Town Manager, etc.?

I am one who was very sad to see the old Walker School torn down, (it was where the new police/fire station is now). We frequently visit an old school house restaurant in Meredith, N.H., it is a very nice, cozy, quaint, and all that! Too bad I didn't have the initiative (and $$$) to do the same with the old Walker School which is gone forever!!

Mr. Cain, how would you answer her?

Dear Editor:
What follows is an Open Letter to Mr. Cain, chairman of the Wilmington Board of Selectmen:

Dear Mr. Cain:
As you are aware, one of the items that was up for discussion during last Monday's Selectmen's meeting involved Mr. McCoy's proposal for a non-binding question. I, like several residents, spoke in support of the proposal. You asked me a direct question and failed to allow me the opportunity to answer you.

The question that was asked of me was if I, as the owner of a real estate company, would want to sell a house only to a woman with no children. I personally find that type of question insulting at best (not to mention sexist and discriminatory), but would like to comment on it.

For starters, I do not understand what my profession has to do with my feelings toward a non-binding question regarding a building moratorium. Maybe you could elaborate on this in an open response.

As you know, I am a life-long resident of Wilmington and currently live roughly 200 feet from where I grew up. My parents moved here in the 1950's from a three story tenement house in Charlestown to get away from the congestion of the city. As we both know, Wilmington was a much smaller town then. We cannot go back to those days, but we owe it to the future of this town to see to it that, if we want to maintain that small town feel, we need to take steps today to control development within the community.

Being a non-binding question, the moratorium is basically a survey question similar to that of the Master Plan Survey Questions. They, (the Master Plan Committee) asked the residents how they felt about the development of the town and 71 percent of the respondents (1,064 residents) responded "too rapid." That has to tell you something about how the people feel.

Recently, my six-year-old daughter Colleen commented to my wife Karen and me as we were driving through Wilmington. She said, "Mommy Daddy, why are they digging up all over my world?" Mr. Cain, how would you answer her?

We need to slow down

Dear Editor:

I was listening to part of the selectmen's meeting on the television last night. I have a question - What are the selectmen of this town afraid of? Mr. McCoy has requested that a non-binding question be put on the ballot. All this will do is let the people of this town voice their opinion without having any influence at an open town meeting. Also many more people come out on voting day than at town meeting. Is this what our selectmen are afraid of, actually hearing what we want? We all know from the appointment of Selectman George Hooper that our selectmen could care less about what the people of this town want. We need to remember this on voting day.

There was a time when I spoke of Mr. McCoy and Mr. Cain as being good selectmen for the town. They cared about the people. Mr. Cain, what happened to change you? The more I hear at each meeting the more apparent it is that you no longer care about the benefit of the town but rather the developers cash flow. I still see Mr. McCoy struggling to bring the voice of the people forward.

I realize that many people have put a lot of hard work into the making of the Master Plan. However, it does have some serious flaws. By not reducing the development we will deplete our water supply and will not have to worry about open space because it, too, will be depleted. I hear talk of over 55 housing development on Route 62. I drive that road every day. I especially enjoy it in the spring after a snowy winter when I drive by the river and see it at the road level. Are the selectmen trying to flood all our roads or just the main roads? Our roads are inadequate to accommodate this rapid growth we are experiencing. Come on people, I think we need to band together and stop the selectmen from destroying our town and creating a city. Let's look at Route 28 in Reading and North Reading. Our roads cannot handle that type of traffic flow.

We need to slow down, even marathon runners take a rest.

Drew joins Army Reserve

TEWKSBURY - Matthew A Drew, son of Cheryl and Michael J. Drew of Main Street, Tewksbury has joined the U.S. Army Reserve under the Delayed Training Program.

The program gives young men and women the opportunity to delay reporting for basic military training for up to 270 days. An enlistment in the Reserve gives many new soldiers the option to learn a new skill, serve their country, and become eligible to receive more than $7,000 toward a college education, $20,000 for repayment of college loans, and a maximum of $5,000 cash bonus.

After completion of basic military training, most soldiers receive advanced individual training in their career job specialty.

Drew, a 2000 graduate of Tewksbury Memorial High School will report to Fort Jackson, Columbia, SC, for basic training.

Senior Jonathan Freeman,

School Dept. seeking $2.6M budget increase

The 2002 school budget also hopes to secure more part-time teachers for Special Education and to bump a library media specialist up to full-time status, so that the educator could divide a hefty chunk of time between the schools. A request for a full-time Health Dynamics Teacher would provide health-related programs at various schools under the health curriculum framework. Six new positions for literacy assistants, which could be considered as part of the literacy goal in the school department's strategic plan, have also requested in the budget proposal, in order to help at the schools for reading programs. The proposed budget also reflects a compliance with the state's requirements for an increase in technology throughout the schools. Approximately 90 computers are needed in order to ensure that each classroom has five of them, a number mandated by the state.

The School Department wants to institute a new math program for the North and West Intermediate Schools at a cost of $88,510. Supplies to support this new program and others, such as ones focusing on character development, will run approximately $12,500.

The 2002 budget proposal also addresses the impending retirement of the school system's Special Education Director. Funding amounting to $20,000 has been requested in order to provide for a three-month overlap when a replacement is hired and time is needed for a smooth transition.

Elsewhere in the proposed budget, $30,000 has been requested for needed furniture at the schools, $3,000 has been requested for security equipment, and $2,130 has been requested for library supplies. It is also hoped by the school department that $20,000 can be secured for legal fees, supplies and other items.

Budget requests for athletic programs at the schools total approximately $54,000. Such a figure includes expenses that are associated with sports, ice rink time, coach salaries and transportation to events. Athletic enrollment is up among the students, particularly in the area of girls' sports.

"We have been looking at administrative technology closely over the last year," said Mr. Mahoney.

According to Mr. Mahoney, he and the town accountant have met and discussed the creation of a "financial sharing information" system that would allow better communication on such matters between the town and the school department. The current system, said Mr. Mahoney, is labor-intensive and has a poor performance record. Administrative technology, which includes a new financial information software system, will run approximately $75,000. If approved, Mr. Mahoney hopes to begin implementing it next January.

who has lived abroad, brings with him the invaluable experience of one who has seen the world and holds a keen awareness of many of the issues facing our nation today. Through his column entitled "The Last Word," he contributes both political and editorial perspective to the Wildcat News.

"I enjoy writing as a means of expressing my opinion on various issues as well as generating student awareness on issues with which they might not otherwise be familiar, such as student apathy," comments Jonathan. "Although I don't picture myself as having a future in journalism, I would like to be involved in the writing of foreign policy for the United Nations, for instance."

Jonathan, who is also a member of the Foreign Language Club, appreciates it when a fellow student writes a rebuttal to a point that he has made.

"It shows that they're reading the articles," he says.

In addition to his participation in Bread and Roses and the Foreign Language Club, Junior Ryan Parsons, who has always enjoyed writing, pens commentaries on entertainment. He recently wrote a review of the blockbuster movie, "Lord of the Rings: The Fellowship of the Ring."

Junior Dan Vassallo, who has been with the Wildcat News since his freshman year of high school, writes a column entitled, "Dan's Two Cents."

"Writing for the newspaper is a way to express my opinion about various things without being too annoying," he laughs. "It's a nice feeling when teachers and other kids approach me and say, 'Wow, that was a really great article.'"

Dan, who also participates in Rotary Interact, Student Council, the Drama Club, track team, and peer mentoring, aspires to become a professional sports writer one day.

Speaking of athletics, sophomore Dan Dilworth, whose column centers around professional sporting events, has enjoyed writing since his middle school days. He hopes to ply his trade at professional sports writing as well. He is also active in the Students Against Drunk Driving Club and the Medical Careers Club.

"Personally, I wouldn't mind starting a controversy or two," he says.

Others who are of invaluable assistance to the Wildcat News are Seniors Anthony Roux and Jackie Rubino, who serve as the art editors (all of the artwork is completely student-generated), and Tom Hudson, who does the layout using Microsoft Publisher.

"As the available technology improves, so does our newspaper," shares Mrs. Bell. "We have come a long way since the days when all of the articles had to be hand-typed out and cut-and-pasted in. We are constantly working to try to make our publication look more and more like a professional newspaper, with three columns, graphics and so on. There was even a time when we sold professional advertisement space, but that is becoming an increasingly difficult thing to do. We really appreciate the School-Business Partnership for contributing the funds to purchase the software that we use."

According to Mrs. Bell, one of the biggest problems faced by the newspaper staff is the time frame between the writing of the articles and the publishing of the newspaper.

"We may write a wonderful story on a particular school event, but by the time the paper actually goes to press, the event may have already taken place," says Mrs. Bell.

Since so many of the writers are each involved in their studies and multiple extracurricular activities, meeting deadlines can sometimes pose a bit of a problem, but these seasoned journalists somehow manage to get the job done.

As Dan Vassallo puts it, "It definitely helps to keep a sense of humor through it all."

Moratorium push upstages Master Plan presentation

whether or not to put the question on the ballot this spring. At the meeting on Monday night, nothing had changed, for McCoy posed his motion one more time and the opportunity for someone to second it was greeted with a deafening silence.

Every selectman made their reasons known as to why they could not support McCoy's moratorium mission.

Selectman George Hooper, who could not attend the meeting because he is away on vacation, had anticipated McCoy's petition and submitted a letter, which Chairman Robert Cain read into the record.

"I am strongly opposed to politicizing such an important issue," said Selectman Hooper. "The Town of Wilmington should be striving for balanced growth as called for by the Master Plan proposal. It may be politically expedient to propose an ill-thought-out moratorium. However, the people of Wilmington deserve better."

Selectman Robert Palmer unleashed a series of questions designed to address what he felt were gaps in McCoy's proposal.

For starters, Selectman Palmer cited the rights of property owners and referred to a current Supreme Court case in which Justices are deciding whether or not land owners should be compensated for having their property temporarily banned from development. Palmer suggested that McCoy's moratorium could spawn endless lawsuits from property owners who can't build on their own land.

Secondly, Palmer challenged McCoy to reveal any fiscal analysis that he may have gathered that supported his notion that his moratorium would translate into fewer taxes.

Third of all, Palmer asked about the effect that such a moratorium would have on the property values in town.

Finally, Palmer cited new growth as a hefty portion of the revenue that the town needs to balance its budget. In the past five years alone, said Palmer, Wilmington accrued approximately $5 million in new growth revenue. Palmer suggested that the implementation of McCoy's moratorium would eliminate that source of income, financially strap the town, deplete public services and force lay-offs of such positions as teachers. The lay-offs of teachers, noted Palmer, would likely increase class-size ratios, a concern touched upon briefly by others at an earlier point in the meeting.

"How do you intend to cover this shortfall?" Palmer asked McCoy. "Whether we like it or not, the town's fiscal health is based on new growth. It's the cornerstone of the budget."

Chairman Cain agreed with Palmer's point that the rights of property owners would be at stake if the moratorium ever came to fruition.

"I would believe it to be illegal," said Cain. "I believe this is feel-good legislation. I don't believe that you can take people's property rights away from them."

Selectman Scott Garrant serves as the Co-Chair on the Master Plan Committee and has spent the past two and a half years working with town officials and residents to craft the 221-page document. He took exception towards what he felt was McCoy's attempt to present the Master Plan as an overpriced endeavor.

"It may be convenient to tie an MWRA price tag to the Master Plan," said Selectman Garrant, "but it's a misrepresentation."

Garrant said that he had spoken with Water Department Director Michael Woods in the time since the December 10 selectmen meeting and learned from him that the community's water problems have very little to do with development.

Said Garrant, "We may have to hook up to the MWRA without one more stick of a house or one more brick of a building going up."

In response to McCoy's assertion that the moratorium is an opportunity for the people in Wilmington to have their say, Garrant maintained that the Master Plan itself represents the voice of the residents.

"We solicited the say of the people and produced the Master Plan," said Garrant.

Kevin Brander, who is also a Co-Chair of the Master Plan Committee, attended the meeting and warned against prejudging alternatives for the town's water problems when a newly commissioned water treatment feasibility study has yet to produce its conclusions and recommendations.

Furthermore, Brander warned that a building moratorium could hamper efforts to secure over-55 housing opportunities, would not allow the development of the town center to move forward, and could spur an overwhelming rush of land owners seeking to obtain building permits before the moratorium, if passed, took effect.

"This moratorium would have negative consequences on the community," said Brander.

McCoy did have supporters for his moratorium, and, incidentally, they were all sitting in the audience. One resident, who complained that too many houses are being built, wondered what would be the harm of placing McCoy's non-binding question on the ballot this spring. Another resident worried aloud that the remaining 1,200 buildable lots in town could produce that many new homes, which could lead to as many as 2,400 new cars driving through Wilmington on a daily basis. And, finally, resident Frank West, who ran for selectman during last year's election, applauded McCoy's efforts and cited a survey in an appendix of the Master Plan that revealed that 71 percent of polled residents felt that development in Wilmington is moving too rapidly.

Town Manager Michael Caira suggested that supporters of the moratorium take the issue to the Town Meeting in April. At that event, the moratorium could appear as a warrant article that would need a two-thirds vote to be approved.

"Why don't you use the democratic process available to you?" proposed Town Manager Caira. "Why not take this issue to the Town Meeting? That's where the town's charter and governing authority allows this to be decided. All it takes is ten people to make this a real issue."

McCoy countered that election day, in which thousands of registered residents cast their votes, would provide a better consensus on public opinion than would a Town Meeting, which typically draws only hundreds of voters.

Although his fellow selectmen failed to second his motion to vote to approve his question for a spot on this spring's ballot, McCoy has remained determined. During a brief interview on the morning after the meeting, McCoy hinted that a Special Town Meeting might be the next vehicle with which he will push for his proposed moratorium.

"That way," said McCoy, "it will be held on a Monday night at a time certain, and there will be only one item that will be up for a vote."

Residents who attend the Annual Town Meeting in April will vote whether or not to move forward with the action steps outlined in the Master Plan.

As stated, members of the Master Plan attended the selectmen meeting on Monday night and summarized the six goals that are the foundation of the document. Those goals involve protecting and preserving open space and natural resources; protecting water resources; promoting the development of vibrant activity centers while maintaining a small town feel; increasing the diversity of housing and the stock of affordable housing while preserving the town character; encouraging appropriate and desirable economic development by promoting a mix of compatible land uses; and improving the internal mobility of cars, pedestrians and bicyclists.

"It's a plan to manage growth," said Garrant.

Many Master Plan Committee members, such as Planning and Conservation Director Lynn Duncan and School Committee member Suzanne Clarkin, attended the meeting. Town Counsel Michael Newhouse was among them, and he acknowledged that the Master Plan is a complex document, the details on which even its creators are not united in agreement. Newhouse suggested a basic criteria by which residents could determine whether or not they support the plan.

"If you agree with the plan's six goals, then vote for it," Newhouse said.

such audits. The task force has selected the firm of Melanson Heath to audit RMLD.

At its meeting on Wednesday, January 9, the RMLD Board of Commissioners voted to conduct its own audit as well. At the time that Cain reached RMLD, such a decision had yet to be made, but the Wilmington selectman made clear the town's position on the matter.

"We strongly object to the use of rate payers' money for this purpose, since it would duplicate other efforts and would not have the independence of the task force," said Cain.

At the moment, the RMLD Board of Commissioners has yet to appropriate funds for the audit that it plans to conduct.

The task force, known formally as the RMLD Oversight Committee, will meet again on Thursday, January. At its previous meeting, members reviewed the content of Rucker's contract with RMLD. RMLD provides electricity for Wilmington, Reading, North Reading and Lynnfield.

that the MCAS exam should be the end-all, be-all for our students," says Armata. "I also believe that we have to take better care of our teachers."

If elected, Armata says that he will push to make pre-school a town-and-state-sponsored program that is available to all children.

"I will fight for all families, not just a select few," says Armata.

Armata, who was born and raised in Wilmington, is engaged to Kelli LaVita, who graduated Wilmington High School in 1993.

When asked what distinguishes him from the incumbent with whom he will do battle this fall, Armata calls for a shift in focus that reaches beyond Senator Tarr's roots in Gloucester.

"Senator Tarr should pay closer attention to the rest of the district, instead of just taking care of Gloucester," says Armata. "Wilmington is an attractive town, and we should be better able to manage the influx of people who are moving here."

Teen found "not guilty" in bomb threat case

According to authorities, the "not guilty" verdict rendered for the bomb threat charge made it virtually impossible for the jury to find the young defendant "guilty" of disrupting school assembly.

In compliance with the single "guilty" verdict, Judge Brokar has placed the youth on probation until his eighteenth birthday. He must also complete 50 hours of public service. According to Principal Woods, the student has not yet resumed his attendance at Wilmington High School.

Repeated attempts were made to reach Superintendent Geraldine O'Donnell and obtain the Wilmington School Department's official reaction to the verdicts, but she did not return any calls left for her by the Town Crier.

UMR honor list

WILMINGTON - Rebecca Rogers, daughter of Wayne and Patricia Rogers and Scott Swiezynski, son of James Swiezynski, have been named to the honor list at Missouri-Rolla University for the winter semester.

Rebecca is a junior majoring in engineering management; Scott, a senior is a major in electrical engineering.

Those on the list have carried a minimum of 12 hours and had grade point averages of 3.2 or above out of a possible 4.0. UMR, one of the four University of Missouri campuses, is the state's primary technological campus.

Established in 1871 as the Missouri School of Mines and Metallurgy, the school has a long tradition as the leading center in the state for education in engineering and related sciences. In keeping with its land-grant tradition, UMR graduates have aided in the development of the industrial and technological economy of the state and the nation.

Ramsdell joins Army Reserve

WILMINGTON - Christopher A. Ramsdell, son of Rita and Frank Ramsdell of Fairfield Road, Wilmington, has joined the U.S. Army Reserve under the Delayed Training Program.

The program gives young men and women the opportunity to delay reporting for basic military training for up to 270 days. An enlistment in the Reserve gives many new soldiers the option to learn a new skill, serve their country, and become eligible to receive more than $7,000 toward a college education, $20,000 for repayment of college loans, and a maximum of $5,000 cash bonus.

After completion of basic military training, most soldiers receive advanced individual training in their career job specialty.

Christopher, a 2001 graduate Lowell Middlesex Academy, Lowell, will report to Ford Jackson, Columbia, SC, for basic training.

Miceli delivers $2 million check to Wilmington

WILMINGTON - Rep. James R. Miceli (D-Wilmington) visited the Wilmington Town Hall on January 15 to deliver the first of 10 installments the town is slated to receive under School Building Assistance (SBA) reimbursement for the new Middle School. The check totaled $2,169,085.

The SBA was established to assist towns in building or renovating schools to ensure children attend a safe environment that fosters learning. When all of the payments are made, Wilmington will have received 65 percent of the money it initially spend to build the school.

During the FY01 budget process, Chairman Miceli pushed Speaker Finneran and the Chairman of the House Committee on Ways and Means to increase the amount of money authorized for SBA reimbursement, in order to expedite the timetable in which Wilmington would receive its first check.

After the budget process was over, Miceli was told Wilmington would receive the check in 2002. Although he was initially told the check might not be ready until late February, Miceli encouraged both the SBA Division of the Department of Education and the Comptroller's Office to release the $2,169,085 to the town as soon as possible. When he heard the reimbursement was ready on the 10th he picked it up at the Comptroller's Office and went straight to the Wilmington Town Hall, not wanting the town to lose one day's interest on the money.

Town Manager Michael Caira and Selectman Robert Cain were on hand at the Town Hall when the Representative arrived with the money.

Chairman Miceli said, "As always, I am very pleased that I was able to deliver such a great amount of money to the Town of Wilmington at a time when it is so needed. Since I began my career in the field of public service, I have always dedicated myself to ensuring the children in my district receive the necessary tools to ensure a great education. As in the past, I will continue to push for the best interest of the children in my district."

The next meeting with Mrs. Freedman's class at the Trahan School has been planned for Valentine's Day, February 14. Participants in this program will soon receive a memo from Carol Hazel regarding this event.

The Senior Center Valentine's Dance will be held Friday, February 15. It will include a buffet and dancing. As many of you know, at this dance, we honor all those special Tewksbury couples who have reached their 50th wedding anniversary in the last year or 50+ anniversary and have never been our guests. Therefore, if you are one of these special couples or know of such a couple, please contact Carol Hazel or Linda Brabant. We already have five couples in mind, there must be several more. Please forward us this information by February 1.

A trip to Lantana's in Randolph is being planned for March 11 when the Best of Times will hold an "Irish Bash." The cost of this trip will be $53 and includes motorcoach transportation, lunch and some wonderful entertainment.

During the winter months we do not schedule many day trips. However, if you have a suggestion on a trip which isn't too far from Tewksbury, we will be more than happy to consider it. Please drop off your ideas in the suggestion box at the front desk of the Senior Center.

A pleasant week is wished to all. God Bless America.

Wilmington Senior Topics

WILMINGTON - Due to the many pressures some of us have been under with keeping up with financial demands, you may find the following information helpful. This information was given by the Consumer Credit Counseling Bureau. "Predatory Lending - Don't be a Victim." The term Predatory Lending refers to abusive lending practices when the lender extends credit to persons who are considered to be higher risk borrowers. Predatory lending is typically based on equity in a consumer's home rather than their ability to repay the loan.

Predatory lenders engage in high pressure sales techniques, and use inflated interest rates and fees, unaffordable repayment terms and harassing collection practices. These lending institutions prey on those who are vulnerable. Homeowners can be tricked into taking a loan they cannot afford to repay and customers need to know and therefore lose their home to foreclosure.

Before you consider borrowing: "Beware of 'bargaining loans,'" salespeople who claim credit history is no problem; offers good only for a short time.

*Avoid the high pressure sales tactics of telemarketers

*Do not deal with door to door home improvement contractors. If you need work done get references from trusted friends and arrange the financing yourself.

If you decide you need a loan:

*Obtain a copy of your credit score from your lender. Lenders use this score to determine how credit worthy borrowers are and therefore how much to charge them. Arm yourself with this information.

*Compare interest rates and total costs of the loan before making a decision. Get quotes from at least three different lenders.

*Do not enter into loans that cost too much. You should not pay fees of more than three percent of the loan amount.

*Get any promises in writing and make sure all verbal agreements are included; the contract is dated; and the name and address of the lender is shown.

*Beware of large up-front payments and inflated rates for credit insurance you may not need. Avoid "balloon" payment loans, which require large lump sum payments of the principal at the end of the loan.

*Never sign anything regarding the ownership of your property without consulting an attorney, a knowledgeable family member or someone you trust.

*You can change your mind even after you sign papers. The Truth in Lending Act allows you to cancel a loan on your house within three days of signing for any reason.

Never take out a loan you cannot afford.

TMHS Student Council sponsors Principal's Day

TEWKSBURY - The Tewksbury Memorial High School Student Council honored and celebrated their Principal, Mr. Anthony J. Romano on Friday, January 11. Not only was it his last Principal's Day since he is retiring in June, but it was also Mr. Romano's birthday. As such, an unprecedented display of affection and appreciation was directed to Mr. Romano. Led by Chairperson Jennifer Dermody, a committee of student council members scheduled a day of coordinated activities that all clubs, classes and staff members volunteered to do.

Early in the week, an announcement was placed on the Town Bulletin Board thanking Mr. Romano for 38 great years of service to Tewksbury Memorial High School and wishing him a 'Happy Birthday.' On Friday, Mr. Romano was treated to breakfast, lunch, birthday cake, a chariot ride (courtesy of the Junior Classical League), entertainment by the TMHS Marching and Concert Bands, gift certificates for a limousine ride and dinner out at a time of his choice, and many other special gifts and remembrances.

Similar events are taking place in high schools all across the Commonwealth in observance of the 12th annual Principal's Day. The Massachusetts Association of Student Councils has dedicated Friday, January 11, 2002, as Principal's Day in Massachusetts. Student Councils will celebrate in an effort to recognize high school principals for their efforts to promote student leadership and student government in their schools.

The TMHS Student Council wishes to join the MASC in thanking all of the principals, and especially Mr. Romano, for their tireless efforts to stimulate civic responsibility.

Mail yourself an Olympics memento

WILMINGTON/TEWKSBURY - As the Winter Olympics approach, Postmasters James R. "Jake" Quinn, Wilmington and Kathleen M. Goodson, Tewksbury, said residents can have their own memento of the Salt Lake City, Utah, Games for the price of a postage stamp.

A special postmark: "Utah Welcomes the World, Salt Lake 2002" is now appearing on millions of cards and letters postmarked at the Salt Lake City Processing and Distribution Center.

They said anyone can obtain this "souvenir" of the Games simply by affixing First Class stamps to envelopes, addressing the envelopes to yourself or others and place them in a larger envelope and sending them to: "Utah Welcomes the World, C/O Postmaster, U.S. Postal service, PO Box 31777, Salt Lake City UT 84131-0777."

The postal officials said self-addressed stamped envelope will be canceled with the postmark and returned to you. The postmark will be used through the end of March.

They suggested using the new Winter Sports commemorative postage stamps to make the unique postmark even more special.

The new postal issues depict four popular winter sports: Figure skating, ice hockey, snow boarding and ski jumping, which can be purchased at the post office, by telephone at 1-800-STAMP-24, and at the Postal Store Web site at www.usps.com.

"This is an inexpensive way to join in the fun and spirit of the Olympics and show your support for our country," the postal officials said.

Tewksbury Student Council runs successful charity drive

TEWKSBURY - Under the leadership of sophomore Fallon Hiort, the Tewksbury Memorial High School Student Council conducted their sixth annual school wide holiday charity drive. With the help of the students and staff at the high school, we were able to help brighten the holidays at the Alternative House, a shelter for abused women and children.

A representative from Alternative House sent us special requests for toys, clothing and various household items for families in residence there. Not only was every request satisfied but additional items and cash were also collected. The Student Council, National Honor Society, the junior varsity and varsity basketball teams, Mr. James Sullivan's Marketing II class, Ms. Gail Pollard's Child Care classes, and Ms. Saindon's Wellness classes were among the classes that provided gifts. In addition teachers, secretaries, other individual students, and administrators brought in items for the drive. It was a total school effort through which approximately $2500 worth of gifts and cash were donated. Due to the combined efforts of the school and community, we helped make this holiday season brighter for many people as well as keep the spirit of the holiday season alive.

Picture shows only a sampling of the items donated and a few of the people involved in the effort.

Fifth annual WCTV food drive

WILMINGTON - WCTV is holding its Fifth Annual "Donations from the Heart" Food Drive to benefit the Wilmington Food Pantry on Saturday, February 9. With a food donation of non-perishable items to the food pantry, WCTV will offer a free valentine message to be shown on the WCTV community bulletin board on Channel 9 on Valentine's Day, Wednesday, February 14. WCTV volunteers will accept food donations at the Wilmington Market Basket, in the Wilmington Plaza on Saturday, February 9 from 9 a.m. to noon. Persons making food pantry donations can fill out a Valentine message and submit their forms at this time. WCTV is also accepting food donations at the television station located at 140 Middlesex Street (the Old Swain School) on February 9.

What better way to show someone you care than to make a donation to help others? Your special "From the Heart" message can be written for a spouse, parent, child, grandparent, friend or neighbor. Valentine's Day is an ideal day to celebrate the pantry's theme, "People Helping People," and offer your generous support of needy families in the community during a typically urgent time of year when the holidays are over and food supplies are low. We welcome the public to join us in this fun and heartfelt event.

Staff picks for Happy New Year reads

If you want to start the New year with a good read, here are some suggestions from the library staff:

Fielding, Joy, Grand Avenue. This is a look back at the 20 year friendship between four young mothers. Each has secrets to hide, flaws to accept and crosses to bear. This is a story of life's ups and downs. Then one of them is murdered and the ties that bind them are tested and broken. In retrospect one of them was not really a friend after all.

Martini, Steve, The Jury. A child is dying. Her parents try to get her into a break through test study that could save her life. A pushy research assistant is murdered. Her boss, the head of the research center is accused of her murder. A lawyer trying to save his client is thwarted by the secrecy of their research. This novel keeps you guessing because murder is also revenge.

McDermid, Val, Killing the Shadows. Someone is recreating murder scenes from best selling crime novels and killing the authors. Psychologist, Fiona Cameron is trying to find this person using her computer technology to track this maniac. Then her boyfriend, also a crime writer, gets a threat and she must catch this killer before he gets her man.

Parsons, Julie, Eager to Please. After spending 12 years in prison for the murder of her husband, Rachel Becket is released on parole. While trying to readjust to a new life including reconciliation with her daughter, Rachel implements her plan for revenge on the real murderer. Her clever plot will impress the reader as it unfolds.

Siegel, Sheldon, Incriminating Evidence. This is a mystery where the accused proclaims his innocence despite mounting evidence against him. A prominent D.A. is found in his hotel room with a dead man in his bed and he denies knowing anything about it. Drugs, politics and lies are involved but the real surprise is who set him up and why!

Sparks, Nicholas, A Bend in the Road. Sparks hit the jackpot with this novel. It is the story of a man who loses his beloved wife to a hit and run driver. He tries to go on for the sake of his small son but is devastated. Two years later, just as he is falling in love again, he gets a tip as to who killed his wife. His new life is shattered by the following turn of events. Will he seek revenge and will their love last?

Thayer, Nancy, Custody. Kelly McLeod seems to have it all. She has just been sworn in as a Massachusetts family court judge and she is engaged to a great guy. But she does not love her fiancé and is secretly seeing a married man who has ties to her past that none could predict. It is also the story of a 12 year old Tessa who is caught in the cross hairs of divorce and struggling to keep her neurotic mother happy. How it all comes together is a miracle and a great read.

Martin Luther King Jr. Holiday

The library will be closed Monday, January 21 in observance of Martin Luther King Jr. Day.

Attorney Simon Cutter honored on his 90th Birthday

WILMINGTON - Attorney Simon Cutter of Wilmington was recently honored for his lifetime of community service by Governor Jane Swift and Speaker of the House Thomas M. Finneran on the occasion of his 90th birthday. The Governor and Speaker praised the local attorney, who lives with his wife, Edith at 43 Church St., for his work in mentoring area youth, pro bono services to the needy, and dedication to improving life for the community. State Rep. James R. Miceli presented the honors from the Governor and Speaker to Mr. Cutter on December 22.

Attorney Cutter was Town Moderator of the Town of Wilmington for 15 years and was an Assistant District Attorney of Middlesex County. He brought the Housing Authority to Wilmington and was its first Chairman. Fifty years ago, he organized the Wilmington Police Association, which still serves the Town of Wilmington.

Attorney Cutter was a member of the Board of Managers of the Norfolk House Center in Roxbury, where he gave free legal service and handled pro bono cases for the people of Roxbury for a period of 25 years. He is the only living charter member of the Wilmington Lions Club, with which he has been affiliated for over 40 years, having held every office in the Lions Club, including serving as its President twice, and received the highest honor of "Melvin Jones Fellow" from Lions International.

Attorney Cutter graduated from Boston University Law School with a Cum Laude degree and subsequently received the degree of Juris Doctor. He still practices law with his son Richard in the local law firm of Cutter & Cutter in Presidential Park. He and his wife Edith have been married for 60 years and have three children, six grandchildren and one great-grandson.

Leaves Wilmington after 13 years and two state titles

Lyman takes softball job elsewhere

By JAMIE POTE
Sports Editor

Over the years the Wilmington High Athletic Department has lost a handful of very good coaches. On Tuesday afternoon, they lost arguably their best girls' coach ever.

Paul Lyman, who was the head softball coach from 1990 to this past year, resigned to take the same position at Bishop Fenwick High School in Peabody.

Lyman coached 13 seasons at WHS coming away with a record of 191-79, two Division 2 state titles, two Merrimack Valley Conference titles and five Cape Ann League titles. His teams also qualified for the state tournament in 9 of the 13 years. In November of 2000, Lyman was inducted into the WHS Hall of Fame.

Lyman is the only person to ever coach an athletic team at WHS to back-to-back state championships. He did so in 1993 and '94 when the 'Cats defeated Mount Graylock Regional, 6-3 and 5-4.

Besides his record as a coach Lyman also had many other personal feats accomplished here in Wilmington. He was the Town Crier Coach of the Year twice, as well as the Coach of the Decade. He was the Boston Globe Coach of the Year, the MVC Coach of the Year twice and the Lowell Sun Coach of the Year twice. He had two high school players who went on to be College All-Americans (Judy O'Connell and Leanne Harris). He had one collegiate All-American (O'Connell). He had two high school All-American nominees (O'Connell and Catherine Townsend). He had five Boston Globe/Boston Herald All-Scholastics. He had 20 Lowell Sun first team All-Stars. He had three league MVP's.

He officially was named the coach at Bishop Fenwick on Tuesday, although he officially hasn't given his letter of resignation to WHS Athletic Director Jim Gillis. Lyman is very familiar with Bishop Fenwick. He has been an assistant football coach there through three different head coaches. He's been the defensive co-ordinator for the program over ten years which includes five Super Bowl appearances. He was also a defensive co-ordinator at Shawsheen and during his short stay there the team went to a Super Bowl.

His four daughters all went and graduated from Bishop Fenwick. All four of them played softball for his very good friend Buddy Henry, who guided Fenwick to 8 straight Division 1 state titles. Henry resigned from Fenwick four years ago, and two years later became the head coach at Shawsheen Tech.

"Paul Lyman put Wildcat softball on the map," said Henry, back on the Hall of Fame night when he introduced Lyman. "He's one of the best big gamers I've ever seen."

Just this past season Lyman guided the Lady Wildcats to an 20-3 overall record and a Cape Ann League title.

"I wasn't interested in leaving Wilmington," said Lyman. "There's not one negative thing about Wilmington which made me leave. An opportunity like this doesn't come around too often. Fenwick is probably the most premier softball job in the entire state if it's done right. It certainly was when Buddy was there."

"For me it's a motivation and a challenge to get the program back to where Buddy had it. I've had all four of my daughters go there and I'm hoping I can do a good job and say thanks to the school."

Lyman said that the former coach Laurie Galvin resigned about a month ago. After she made her announcement several players on the team called Lyman to see if any of his daughters would be interested in the job. He called his daughters and none of them were interested due to time restraints. Then one of the players asked Paul if he would be interested. Several days later the school's athletic director

Bob Tierney called and spoke to Paul about coming in for an interview.

"I went in before Christmas and told him I wasn't interested in leaving Wilmington," said Lyman. "I had no reason to leave and never thought I would. Then I started to talk to some people and started to weigh a bunch of things. A week later [Tierney] called me and said I was their first choice and they wanted me. So [last Tuesday] I took it."

Tierney is very excited about having Lyman on board, while, Gillis certainly isn't all smiles.

"It's devastating for the program," said Gillis. "It's a plus for Fenwick. This is an opportunity for Paul to go to a bigger program. He lives in Beverly so it's much easier for him as well. It's Wilmington's loss and Fenwick's gain. The program will certainly miss him. You don't replace a Hall of Fame coach. You try to do the best you can and move on. I wish him well, I really do. I was his coach [so I've known him for many years]."

"Paul's a guy who was very supportive of the kids, who was very loyal to the program and just an outstanding coach. He provided the kids with an opportunity to be successful everytime they stepped on the field because of his coaching."

Tierney believes his athletic department has been majorly upgraded with this one hiring.

"I know Paul very well as a coach and personally," said Tierney. "In the softball world from the North Shore to the Merrimack Valley to the Cape Ann League, Paul is a household name. His record speaks for itself no matter the sport, softball, football or basketball. He's a coach's coach. He's an outstanding person and anytime you can get a coach like him on board you know is just an outstanding step in the right direction."

"The program was very successful under Buddy and it still was [after Henry]. We won the league one year and had success in the tournament. We feel that Paul has a tremendous knowledge for the game. He's one of the top coaches in Eastern Mass. His work ethic and knowledge bring a lot to any softball program. He's up there with the best."

"You know what you're getting in Paul Lyman. He brings a lot to the plate, no pun intended. Softball wise he's tremendous because he cares so much for the student-athletes."

Lyman leaves

Many wins, many memories

By JAMIE POTE
Sports Editor

As I sit and write this article, I have realized that if it wasn't for Paul Lyman I really don't know if I would be the Sports Editor of this newspaper.

The Wilmington High softball coach resigned this past week to take the same job at Bishop Fenwick in Peabody.

Besides being the best coach I've ever been associated with between Wilmington and Tewksbury, Paul Lyman is a very good friend and certainly a father type figure to me.

For sportswriters, guys like Paul Lyman don't come around often. Besides his on the field coaching abilities, he always returned phone calls so you don't have holes in your sports pages. He was always around after games to talk, no matter if they won or lost. He always made it fun - he was a quote machine and very rarely did you have to ask him a question because he knew the routine and he covered all of the bases. And when the team went away on trips, he made sure he invited you, made sure you felt accepted and made sure you enjoyed yourself.

I can remember almost ten years ago when I was 18 years old and in my second semester in college. I was taking a journalism class and part of it was getting an internship at either a newspaper or a radio station. I had read the Town Crier that week and noticed that former sports editor Rick Cooke was being promoted to the Editor of the paper, taking on both roles. I figured I'd go down and see if Cooke needed any help as part of my internship. He did need help and with that he assigned me the girls' softball team.

My first assignment was covering the Wilmington-Tewksbury regular season game. I had always known Paul Lyman, just by his brother and his daughters and my sister, Nancy who played for him. I didn't know Paul that well at the time but it was always a "Hello, how are you?" Anyways, before the game began I went up to him as nervous as can be because I was young, naive and didn't know what the hell I was doing. I told Paul this was my first assignment for the paper and was wondering if I could copy his line-up. He said congratulations to me, took my notebook and filled in his line-up.

After the game I wasn't nervous asking questions because he made it so easy for me. That was something I'll never forget. Some coaches go out of their way to make you feel uncomfortable, especially when you are new. He didn't do that once during the 9 years I've covered the team.

That year, 1993, was the first of two state titles for the team. I'll never forget those games or that season. If I didn't have as much fun, or if Lyman didn't make it as easy as he did for me, I truly don't know if I would've pursued sportswriting as seriously as I did after that season.

After that season I got to know Paul very well. We had a lot of laughs and good times together. I'll never forget all of the Cape Cod trips, and I'll certainly never forget the trip to New York for the summer softball team just hours after winning the his second state title.

I also remember right after the New York trip I had planned on running a two-page spread in the Town Crier of individual photographs on every single member of the team as well as the coaching staff of Lyman, Jake Townsend and Maureen Noone. Someone had made a comment to me that Paul and Jake looked like Fred and Barney from the Flintstones. I

The state championships and the league titles. This past year was a tremendous season. We accomplished so much for being so young. The [Wilmington] program is being left in very good status. Whoever takes over isn't taking it over, there's a lot of talent there. No matter who takes it over, [he or she] will have a good team. And [he or she] will have good kids."

They might have good kids and good players, but they won't have a Hall of Fame coach steering them in the right direction.

I had a lot of great memories

Vacancies for softball, baseball jobs

By JAMIE POTE
Sports Editor

Wilmington High Athletic Director Jim Gillis is always a busy man, but now the next few weeks will be pretty hectic for him. This past week he learned that Paul Lyman resigned as head softball coach. Gillis will now have to find a replacement for that job, as well as a new head varsity baseball coach after the death of Dick Scanlon last summer.

"Once I get Paul's official letter of resignation I'll post the job like all of the others and we'll go from there," said Gillis. "To be honest it'll be a while. But we'll see what happens. I think we've been blessed with the last few coaches [who have been hired]."

There's a few in-house candidates for both jobs. In softball certainly varsity assistant coach Leanne McConologue, who was a captain under Lyman in the 1992 season is a very good candidate.

"I have to give my official letter of resignation and when I do that I plan on sitting down with Jimmy and talking about the program," said Lyman. "I'd like to see him hire within. I think that could make the transition a lot easier for the girls. I'm going to recommend Leanne McConologue."

"She's been a varsity assistant for the last few years and the kids really respect her. She'd be my first choice. She's in the school system and to keep it in-house I think would be easier for the kids. I'll recommend her to Jimmy but he can do whatever he wants. There could be other people in the school system as well."

Gillis has hired within over the last few positions. Mark Staffier was the JV volleyball coach and he was promoted to varsity after Mike Nee resigned. He also hired Wilmington native Patti Cushing for the field hockey and girls' tennis teams, as well as Steve Scanlon for the boys' soccer team.

LEANNE MCCONOLOGUE WAS PAUL LYMAN'S VARSITY SOFTBALL ASSISTANT COACH the last few years. She could replace Lyman as the WHS softball coach after he resigned this week. McConologue played for Lyman during her days as a Wildcat. (File Photo)

Junior varsity softball coach of the past few years Audrey Cabral-Pini could be a replacement for Lyman. She coached girls' varsity basketball at Cambridge Ridge and Latin several years ago.

Another possibility could be Leanne Harris, who is a teacher in the Wilmington School system, and who played softball under Lyman during the championship seasons, as well as at Salem State where she was an All-American.

In baseball, Bob Gillis is a candidate as he filled in for Scanlon last year during games the veteran coach couldn't make. Bob Gillis is another Wilmington native who was also named the interim girls' basketball coach when Beth Kapnis left on maternity leave. Gillis has since been named the head coach.

There's also several good varsity assistant coaches out there, including Tewksbury's Leo Gravelle. Former varsity assistant Matt McManus was also a major benefit to the program when he helped Scanlon out several years

Shawsheen Tech Round-Up

Donovan reaches milestone

By MATT KALMAN
Sports Correspondent

On the schedule, Saturday's meet seemed like a typical tri-meet for Shawsheen Tech against Greater Lowell Tech and Greater Lawrence Tech.

But Rams head coach Mark Donovan had a feeling there was something special when his entire family, including his father who recently suffered a stroke, and some of his top alumni showed up at the gym.

With his team's 53-22 win over Greater Lowell, Donovan recorded the 200th win of his 17-season career as head wrestling coach.

"I didn't realize how important it was until the match and three-quarters of the alumni were there and my father was there and my wife and family, and all the coaches," said Donovan. "It was a real warm feeling. That's what it's all about, coaching. It's not about X's and O's or wins and losses, it's about teaching kids rules of life and what's right and wrong."

The Rams lost the other half of the tri-meet, 39-26, to undefeated Greater Lawrence. But Donovan still reached his milestone.

"I never even thought about 200 or 300 wins," said Donovan, whose team is 4-5 this season. "My father always said hard work pays off and this shows that he's right."

In the win over Greater Lowell, Steve Helmer (103 pounds) Brian Gird (171) and Nick Maynard (130) won by pinfall, as did Wilmington resident Greg Balestrieri (119) and Tewksbury residents Dave Callahan (275) and Jeremy Verrocchio (152).

Scott Witala won an 18-2 decision at 130 and Craig Femia won by forfeit at 215 in the Rams' win.

Against Greater Lawrence, Maynard, Witala and Gird won by pin. Wilmington's John Dell'Anno won a decision at 160 and Jim Hurley (125) and Helmer also won decisions.

With 17 seasons under his belt, there's no telling how long Donovan will coach. Perhaps he'll be around long enough for win No. 300.

"If it comes, it comes," said Donovan. "I'd rather see a Division I state title."

Boys' Basketball

The Rams split a pair of games last week as they lost to Minute-man, 66-59, in overtime on Friday, but rebounded and routed Essex on Monday, 58-33.

In the win, Greg Bendel scored 17 points and Jason Banusiewicz added 16.

During the Rams' loss, Chris Pavidis and Wilmington's Mark Steward scored 15 points apiece. Wilmington's Mike Gore added 10 points and 11 rebounds, but Minuteman tied the game on a 3-pointer with two seconds left to force overtime and then defeated the Rams.

Girls' Basketball

Shawsheen's 66-22 win over Essex on Monday increased its winning streak to four games and improved its record to 8-3 on the season.

In the victory, Wilmington's Ashley Morgado poured in a career-high 41 points, one shy of the school record set by Nicole Stanasek in 1997.

Morgado added 11 rebounds and two blocks to her performance.

Amanda Lauzon chipped in with nine points and Wilmington's Kelly Gillis scored six.

The Rams' week also featured a 39-22 win over Minuteman in which Gillis recorded a triple-double. She registered 10 points, 12 rebounds and 10 assists in the victory.

Shawsheen outscored Minute-man, 27-10, in the second half.

Head coach Bill Ritchie said that the Rams' impressive record isn't representative of how his team has played, although the Rams are improving.

"We should be doing better than we are," said Ritchie. "At minimum, we're where we should be. We're inconsistent in what we are. Last Friday, we played our best half yet against Minuteman, so maybe that's a harbinger of good things to come."

Some of the Rams' troubles can be traced to the point guard position where sophomore's Jackie Raymond and Denise Lazarra, a Tewksbury resident, have struggled to fill the shoes of last season's starter Karen Antonelli. The pair of second-year players has come on in recent games.

"It takes a while to learn and experience the position," said Ritchie. "You don't see it in the scoring column, but you never do with the point guard. But it's so important for us."

The Rams and their point guards will battle Greater Lawrence at home on Friday and take on Northeast at home on Tuesday.

Hockey

The Rams improved to 7-2 on the year with a 4-2 win over Minuteman on Thursday as they scored twice in the game's first 44 seconds and never looked back.

Wilmington's Brian Corcoran opened the scoring and 36 seconds later, Matt Matthews scored a second goal. Andrew LaCombe and Nick Dolan added tallies for the Rams, who got 14 saves from goaltender Ryan Harris.

After a week off, Shawsheen plays against Tyngsboro on Thursday.

Team effort leads WHS girls' hockey team to victory

By PAUL HAYES
Sports Correspondent

The second-year Wilmington High girls hockey team erased any notion of a sophomore slump this week, with a win over Billerica and a narrow loss against Andover.

On Wednesday, four different players scored for Wilmington as they rolled over host Billerica, 5-3. Rachele See led all Wilmington scorers with 2 goals. Also scoring were Jill Abell, Jen Corcoran and Tiffany Zolt. Notching assists were Erin Magee (2 assists), Kristin Burns, Maria Sorrentino and Zolt (1 assist each).

On Saturday, Wilmington lost a heartbreaker at Andover, 2-1. Wilmington and Andover were tied until the Townsman scored with 1:11 remaining in the game. Despite the outcome, Wilmington coach Joe McMahon was pleased with the team's effort.

"It's probably the best game I've seen them play so far," said McMahon. "Everything clicked together, and Heather See had the best goaltending outing I've seen her have."

As of Tuesday, the Lady Cats record stood at 3-8, (3-3 in conference). According to head coach Joe McMahon, the key to Wilmington's recent success is a resurgent offense. After spending the first few games trapped in their own zone, the team has been able to move the puck forward and create scoring opportunities.

"We're starting to get more shots, and give up less shots," said McMahon.

The Lady Cats return to action tonight against Burlington at the Burlington Ice Palace. Wilmington will be looking to avenge their 6-5 season opening loss to the Red Devils. On Saturday the team will face Westwood High in Canton, and next Wednesday the team travels to an away game at Martha's Vineyard.

Just Berry terrific

By PAUL HAYES
Sports Correspondent

If given the choice between sitting still and constant motion, Steve Berry would choose constant motion.

The Wilmington High junior typically spends each track meet moving from one event to another, rarely taking more than a few moments to watch his friends compete before he is off preparing for his next challenge.

"I'm pretty busy during a meet, but I like it," said Berry.

He starts each track meet by competing in the 50-meter hurdles, one of the first events. Following a short break, he competes in the high jump, and finally he caps off each meet by running a leg of the final even, the 4x400 yard relay.

Against North Andover on Wednesday, Berry finished third in the hurdles (7.9 seconds), second in the high jump (5'4") and ran the fastest leg of the relay (59.94 seconds).

"He's very versatile, which is important in indoor track, he can essentially pick up 15 points," said track coach Mike Kinney. "He is performing above expectations."

Berry started out running hurdles in 8th grade, during an exhibition meet held at the high school. The next year, during his freshman season, he picked up the event full time. The reason he chose hurdles over sprints was the added challenge.

"It's something more than just sprinting," said Berry.

Last year, Berry added the high jump and relay to his repertoire. He was introduced to the high jump by former captain Chris Calloway, and said it has become his favorite event, and the one for which he puts in the most practice time.

Over the summer, and during the preseason, Berry engaged in plyometrics, a type of exercise regimen involving special "jump soles" attached to a shoe. The jump soles force a person to run on their toes. The workouts target the fast-twitch, jumping muscles such as calves and quadriceps.

Berry spent one and a half hours per week on the plyometrics workouts, and combined with a more strenuous training regimen, his efforts have paid off. This season he is jumping between 24 inches higher than last season, and he qualified for the state meet with a jump of 5'10" at Lynn Tech against Amesbury. His goal for the remainder of this season, and for spring track, is to clear 6 feet.

Berry does not envision himself branching out into more events. Last year he occasionally competed in the 300 yards, but this season the team has only a handful of jumpers and leapers, which means he is probably locked into his events. However, he has become fond of distance running, at least in the fall when he competes with the cross country team. This year he was the cross country team's number four runner.

When he is not running, he is working 16 hours per week stocking shelves at Market Basket, and when he is not running or stocking shelves he is hanging out with friends. In the future he would like to run track and cross country at the collegiate level. He wants to run for the camaraderie as much as for the accomplishment.

"I enjoy track because it's challenging, and because it's a team sport," said Berry. "Even though you run alone, you're still part of a team."

WHS Track round-up

By PAUL HAYES
Sports Correspondent

The Wilmington High indoor track teams, perhaps showing the rust of nearly two weeks without competing in a meet, both lost to North Andover on Wednesday. For both teams it was the first meet since winter break.

The girls came closest to winning, pushing North Andover to the final event before falling 45-41.

Meanwhile, coach Mike Kinney expected the boys would be engaged in a similarly close meet. However, North Andover won seven events, and finished second in six events, in route to a 54-32 win over the Wildcats.

Kinney had assumed it would be a close meet, because both teams had lost to league rival North Reading by the same margin.

However, North Andover surprised Wilmington by sweeping the shot put and the 50-yard dash.

"They had some very good runners," said Kinney. He also pointed to decreased participation: 33 athletes started the season on the indoor track team, but as of yesterday only 19 attended practice.

Kinney predicts the team will perform well for the remainder of the season. The team record is 2-3, fourth place in the Cape Ann League. The team will send representatives (approximately 6 relay teams) to the state Class C relays at the Reggie Lewis Center in Roxbury on Saturday.

Because of academic commitments, the boys and girls teams have rescheduled today's meet against Hamilton-Wenham for Wednesday, January 23.

Wildcat girls' hoop team falls in reigning minutes

By MATT KALMAN
Sports Correspondent

A season-long affliction cost the Wilmington girls' basketball team an upset victory Tuesday night.

The Wildcats struggled with their shooting to the tune of 30 percent for the game and despite a rally that cut twice-beaten North Andover's lead to two points with 3:56 to play, Wilmington fell, 53-46, in a Cape Ann League game at Wilmington High.

"If we make our shots, we win," said Wilmington head coach Bob Gillis, whose team was coming off an 85-64 win over Rockport on Friday.

It took Wilmington 3:55 to score a point and 5:42 to hit a field goal in the second half as the Scarlet Knights built a 10-point lead. With less than eight minutes to play, Colleen Doran, who led all scorers with 18 points, extended North Andover's lead to 41-26 — its largest lead of the night.

That's when Wilmington (3-7) turned things around and went on a 14-1 run, capped by a Lauren Rappoli basket with 3:56 that cut North Andover's lead to 42-40. Senior Kristin Sauve, who led the Wildcats with 12 points, scored five points during the run.

"They worked like mad," said Gillis. "I'm very proud of them. They work hard; they don't quit. What else can you ask for?"

The Scarlet Knights (9-2) proceeded to exploit the fact that the Wildcats had been over the foul limit since the 10:06 mark. Three free throw conversions and a basket by Lindsay Breen in its next three possessions put the game out of reach in favor of North Andover at 47-40. Wilmington, which turned the ball over 22 times in the game, committed three-straight miscues to give North Andover possession.

Had Wilmington's shots fallen in the first half, it might not have had to play catch-up in the second half. Against Wilmington's two-three zone defense, North Andover missed its first eight shots of the night and 12 of its first 13 as the Wildcats jumped out to a 7-2 lead.

"We were in the two-three, but we were a little nervous," said Gillis. "They've got two real good outside shooters and it's tough to get around that. But fortunately 22 (Doran) was kind of off and we were able to stay in it for a while."

With the Wildcats also struggling from the floor, the Scarlet Knights reeled off 10 consecutive points, capped by a Kristy Hanson basket, to take a 10-7 lead.

Wilmington kept the game close while North Andover continued to shoot poorly. The Scarlet Knights, who shot 29 percent for the game, shot 10-for-41 before the break.

The Wildcats also managed to force 16 turnovers, 10 on steals, led by Danielle Spry with three. Keri Gillespie added two steals and two blocked shots off of Wilmington's bench.

The Wildcats trailed, 21-18, before North Andover opened the second half with its big run.

BOX SCORE

Halftime score: North Andover 21, Wilmington 18. 3-point goals: North Andover 2 (C. Doran 2), Wilmington 2 (Sauve, Antonangeli). Total fouls: North Andover 19, Wilmington 23. Fouled out: Breen, Antonangeli.

Sauve finds the hole in team's play

By MATT KALMAN
Sports Correspondent

She hadn't scored in over 10 minutes and her team was trailing a twice-beaten team by 14 points.

So Wilmington senior co-captain Kristin Sauve decided to change things and instead of settling for an outside shot as she and her teammates had been doing she went to the hole.

The result was five consecutive points for the forward, including a three-point play the old-fashioned way, and just a nine-point deficit. Wilmington, sparked by Sauve, reeled off 12-straight points in all and cut North Andover's lead to 42-40 Tuesday night.

"He (head coach Bob Gillis) wanted us to drive whenever we could because they were already kind of in foul trouble," said Sauve. "We wanted to get 25 (Lindsay Breen) out and we did."

Gillis wanted his team to take it to the basket and his senior leader to take her game a little higher.

"She's a senior, she's a captain and she's a hard worker," said Gillis. "She's a good player and when the shots go down for her, she's a very pretty player."

Although the Wildcats wound up on the losing side of a 53-46 game, they showed that they could play with one of the best teams in the Cape Ann League. Wilmington's ability to hang with North Andover also showed during the game's opening minutes when the Wildcats jumped out to a 7-2 lead.

In all, Wilmington held North Andover to just 29 percent shooting and forced the Scarlet Knights into 16 turnovers. Sauve recorded one of Wilmington's 10 steals on the night.

"We really wanted this game," said Sauve. "We were all over the floor for loose balls and everyone was looking to pass and stuff."

The Wildcats' undoing was their shooting from the floor, which tolated just 30 percent for the night. Sauve doesn't know why her team, time and again, goes through spells where it can't throw the ball into the Charles River.

"When we're at practice we all hit our shots," said Sauve. "When we come in here, it's like we just panic or something."

Sauve's working hard to improve her game and Tuesday night's contest allowed her to become more of an inside force, guarded by the shorter Kristy Hanson.

"In practice and tonight, I've been shooting more inside than outside," said Sauve. "And tonight, with 15 (Hanson) on me, it was a height difference, so I went inside."

Said Gillis, "That's something we've been working on for two weeks; getting the ball and going to the hoop."

Of course, Sauve's true strength is on the perimeter.

"Her strength's always been that outside shot," said Gillis. "I used her at guard last week. She has a good handle, she's a good player."

She might be a good player now, but the Cape Ann League better take notice that Sauve is still improving.

All systems working for ice hockey team

By JAMIE POTE
Sports Editor

There's several big reasons why the Wilmington High ice hockey team is the three-time Cape Ann League Champions: 1) They play a terrific system — their dump-and-chase style simply wears out teams; 2) They play great two-way hockey, as their team defense certainly goes unnoticed; 3) They for the most part stay very disciplined and don't get retaliation penalties; 4) They are very good on their special teams, both on the power play and on the penalty kill.

All four of those reasons came into effect in the team's 4-1 win over North Reading on Saturday afternoon at the Ristuccia Exposition Center. Wilmington now has won eight of their last nine games, and they are 8-3 overall. They are two games behind the undefeated Masconomet squad for first place. The two teams met for the first of two games this season on Wednesday afternoon while this paper was being assembled.

Wilmington was a much better team than North Reading (7-4-1), but the game was slowed down by many penalties (14 combined). The 'Cats were able to take care of business thanks to a pair of power play goals, an empty net goal, very solid goaltending by Andy Berian (13 saves) and their non-stop dump-and-chase style of play.

"We started off slow this year

[with two losses]," said co-captain Matt Porter. "We didn't jell. We weren't playing our system and we were trying to do everything ourselves. Now we're playing the system, we're getting good leadership from everyone and we're playing very well as a team."

After a scoreless first period which saw the 'Cats outshoot the Hornets, 10-4, Wilmington had several nice chances to score in the early goings of the second period. Both Anthony Tomasi and Dave DeMango had good scoring bids, but goaltender Mike Kazmieczenko denied them both with sprawling stops.

With 11:31 to go, North Reading was penalized for a double minor penalty. Fifty-nine seconds later Wilmington won the game as Geoff Ferreira came off the right boards, circled behind the net into the slot area and scored on a beautiful backhand shot to the top corner. That followed when Dan Liberty came down the same boards and fed Tomasi who one-timed a snap shot which found the way in the back of the net making it 2-0.

Wilmington upped its lead to 3-0 with a huge insurance goal early in the third period. Senior defenseman Brent Holloway took a slap shot from the left point, but the puck hit the stick of Jack Webb, who was parked high in the slot, and it redirected through the five hole.

North Reading did get on the scoreboard with 2:41 left as Chris Rizzo scored on the tail end of a North Reading power play as his shot was saved by Berian but the puck bounced high into the air and off the netminder's back.

Berian was very strong in the net with several point blank saves. Head coach Steve Scanlon said he plans on continuing the platoon of goalies between Berian and Sferazza as Scanlon says it's been working lately.

"One doesn't outshine the other," said Scanlon. "Andy's playing just as well as Paul has."

Joe Luciano netted an empty net goal with 80 seconds to go to seal the deal.

"We had a slow start," said Scanlon. "But we had very good execution on the power play. We got the job done. The last two games we've been a little inconsistent so we hope to fix that with the Masco game."

Earlier in the week, Wilmington defeated Hamilton-Wenham, 4-1. Dan Liberty had three goals, while, Tomasi assisted on all four tallies.

The top line of Tomasi, Ferreira and Liberty are currently first, fourth and fifth in the league in scoring. Tomasi leads with 9 goals and 14 assists, while, Ferreira stands at 9-9-18 and Liberty has 6-12-18. The trio have combined for 59 points through the team's 11 games.

Boys Hoop team loses first league game

By JAMIE POTE

NORTH ANDOVER — The good news is the Wilmington High boys' basketball team will face North Andover again in a few weeks at home. The bad news is they lost in the first of two match-ups on Tuesday night, thus the two teams are tied for first place in the Cape Ann League with one league loss each.

North Andover's 6-6 center Kevin Boutillier, who sat out in the team's loss to Amesbury, dominated in the closing minutes of a tight game to lead the Scarlet Knights to a 62-52 win over the 'Cats at North Andover High.

With the loss Wilmington falls to 9-2 on the season, with nine more games left including the next five at home. The 'Cats need just one more victory to qualify for the states.

"If you were to tell me on November 1st that we'd be 9-2 through the first 11 games I would have been pretty damn happy," said coach Jim McCune. "We're OK."

Wilmington played without its leading scorer Valence Nwachukwu, who sat out with the flu. Wilmington's offense struggled a bit on Tuesday night connecting for just 22-of-54 shots, including just 5-for-22 from three-point land.

"We jumped out by a few points and we did a good job [defending our] post in the first half," said McCune. "Then North Andover started to spread out and it took away our coverage. Their two three-pointers kind of killed the game. The shots we've been making all season we didn't make [on Tuesday]."

After missing its first eight shots and trailing 6-0, Wilmington came back and went up 19-10 as Mike Jordan displayed an one-man offensive show with several baskets in the team's 19-4 run. North Andover came back and cut the lead to two at the halftime break (28-26).

The teams exchanged baskets and short leads through the first half until Jordan hit a three-pointer thanks to a nice screen by Zack Mitzan. With the score tied at 43 just under 8 minutes to go, North Andover's James Dodge and Kevin Tangelis hit back-to-back three-pointers and North Andover never looked back.

Boutillier then dominated down the stretch as he connected for all but two of his shots through the entire night and scored 19 second half points. He ended the night shooting 12-of-14 from the floor and two free throws gave him 26 points. He also grabbed 15 rebounds. He was very impressive on the night, displaying solid moves in the post while in the clutch he was defensive rebound machine.

As for Wilmington, they were led by Jordan's 19 points and he also contributed with 7 rebounds. Craig Osgood struggled shooting but ended with 7 points and 8 rebounds. Pat Taylor had a quiet 9 points and 7 rebounds, while Dave Aronofsky and Mitzan each had 6 points.

Wilmington has just one game this week as Triton Regional comes to town on Thursday for a 7:00 pm start. That will be the first of five straight home games with Manchester, Hamilton-Wenham, Pentucket and the rematch against North Andover to follow on February 1st.

On Friday Wilmington defeated Rockport, 70-43. Osgood led the way with 19 points, while Nwachukwu had 16 first half points as well as 10 rebounds.

Porter defends style

By JAMIE POTE
Sports Editor

Over the years, the Wilmington High ice hockey team has been very successful because of their overall team defense. Usually they have average sized blue liners who don't do anything flashy, but do what they are suppose to do and play heads up smart hockey.

Matt Porter follows that trend perfectly.

"With the system we have, the defensemen aren't flashy," he said after playing a very good game in the team's 4-1 win on Saturday over North Reading. "We're not like Catholic Memorial as they have their defensemen carry the puck into the zone. We've won here because of our system and because of our team defense. We don't win by being flashy. We wear teams out. I could be flashy but I don't want to be that way. It's all about playing together as a team."

Over the last few years Porter hasn't been all that flashy. In fact sometimes he played a bit inconsistently, playing two or three good games then he'd slip a bit in the next one. Thus far this year has been much different. He's elevated his play, he's been consistent, he's been a very good leader on and off the ice, and he's playing like an all-league player.

"I think the kids really like me," he said. "I don't think anyone on the team has a problem with me. I try to be very open with everyone. But as long as we all work hard, play as a team and play our game we won't have problems."

Defensively Porter has been much better with the puck. He controls it well, he makes smart passes and he does the right things with it. Defensively, on Saturday especially, he made several nice plays. On 1-on-1 breaks or 2-on-2 breaks, he did the right thing, taking the puck carrier to the boards and using his body, thus taking the puck away.

"For me it's just a matter of calming down. I used to get very nervous," he said. "I like pressure and I think I do well under pressure. I have never worried with this team. When we're down by two goals in the third period I know somehow, someway we're going to pull it out. None of get down. As long as don't try to do too much we'll win games."

Before the season started much was made of the team's defense. Besides Porter, his partner Brent Holloway had a season under his belt, while Greg Buck played in a handful of games last year. Besides that, Brian Martinello and Kevin Tobin had limited or no varsity experience. Porter said that he felt the pressure at the start of the season to carry his share of the load, but he said many times that the other blueliners have certainly carried their share of the workload.

"I knew what Brent could do and we knew that Greg had the third spot but we didn't know who would get the fourth spot," said Porter. "We thought Brian could do the job and he has. He's improved so much. All four of us have. We've all worked hard. Plus the forwards have been backchecking and that's really been a big help."

Head coach Steve Scanlon certainly has appreciated the efforts and the leadership skills Porter has brought to this year's team.

"Matt's doing great," said Scanlon. "He's been a real leader out there. He handles the puck well, he has a good shot and he makes good decisions."

Wrestlers take second in prestigious tourney

By JAMIE POTE
Sports Editor

It seems ever since Mike Pimental's arrival as the Wilmington High wrestling coach that the weekly reports on the team says they have done something the program has never done before.

Well not to sound like a broken record, but the team was at it again this past weekend.

Ever since Pimental came to WHS, he has taken his program back to where he excelled as a high school wrestler. The wrestling team took a trip to Vermont, to Mount Anthony High School to participate in the annual tournament. The Mount Anthony wrestling program is one of the most prestigious ones in the entire country. They have won New England championships left and right, while a state championship seems like just an ordinary win for them.

Pimental was a state champion during his high school days at Mount Anthony and during his senior year was when the program started its incredible run. Ever since Pimental has taken his team back there to participate in the tournament, his team has slowly crept up the ladder. At first they placed 10th out of 11 teams, with just one place finisher. Last year they placed fourth as a team and had their first champion, Marc Sollazzo.

This past weekend the team finished second, of course trailing Mount Anthony, who had 9 individual champions while every single kid who wrestled was a place finisher. Wilmington was also very successful with 4 wrestlers in the finals, while 9 members of the team placed.

"Mount Anthony has won the tournament 14 years in a row now," said Pimental. "The four guys we had in the finals all lost to Mount Anthony wrestlers. We had a tremendous weekend. Absolutely the best performance we've ever had there. I hope we can keep the progression going. When we do well the kids don't realize it and they are like 'wow I can't believe this'. They should believe it - they are a very good wrestling team."

"The kids had a goal at the start of the year to finish among the top three teams at this tournament and they did. Now it's time to reach another goal."

Mount Anthony finished with 346 team points. Wilmington was second with 144.5 points. The 'Cats beat out Massachusetts powerhouse Franklin High, as well as teams from Marshwood, Maine, Newfield Connecticut, Stratford Connecticut and Kingston, New York to name a few.

"They were some great teams there," said Pimental. "It's always nice to go back there and do well. I'm very proud of the kids. They all did fantastic."

The 'Cats had four second place finishers, a pair of third places, four fourth places, and four other guys who won at least one match as every single weight class had a victory. At 103 pounds senior captain Justin Strem lost in the finals to Chris Prouden by pin in the finals. At 125 pounds Sang Ngo lost in the finals by a pin, as did 160 pounder Jason Cranford. Finally, at 135 Roman Walsh lost by a major decision. Strem is a two-time place finisher at the tourney as he took second as a sophomore.

Both Derek Hanley (140) and senior captain John McMahan (145) finished third. Freshman Tim Sughrue earned his first varsity medal as he took fourth in the 96 pound weight class. Massachusetts doesn't have a weight class at 96 pounds, so Sughrue who competes with Strem at 103, was able to bump down to 96 and do very well. Seniors Chris Minghella (112) and Phil O'Brien (215) also finished fourth, as did junior Jordan Weiner (130).

Lou Insalaco (119), Dennis Trulli (152), Matt Gennetti (171) and Ken Luongo (275) all won a match to contribute to the team's points.

As for regular season action, Wilmington improved to 8-4 on Wednesday with a 57-21 victory over Boston Latin in a non-league match held at WHS. Wilmington won 9 matches and all of them by pins thanks to Minghella, McMahan, Ngo, Walsh, Hanley, Weiner, Cranford, Gennetti, O'Brien and Luongo.

Wilmington has lost four matches this season - all by single digits - to four established pro-

Introducing a good wrestler

By JAMIE POTE

When Justin Strem was getting ready to face Chris Prouden in this weekend's 103-pound championship at the Mount Anthony High School wrestling tournament in Bennington, Vermont, he couldn't help but listen in to the tournament announcer.

"They read off Prouden's career record and his was 102-9 and they read off mine which was like 40 [wins] and 50 [losses]," he said with a chuckle, as he was dripping from sweat just minutes after Monday's practice.

Prouden, of Mount Anthony High, pinned Strem in the final to make it 110 career wins. For Strem no one is chuckling at what he's done since last year he finished with a record of 18-22.

Thus far this year he's 18-4, including a first place finishes in the Haverhill and Whittier Tech tournament, a second place finish at the Mount Anthony tournament and a third place finish at the Wilmington Sons of Italy tournament.

Whether or not Strem lost to a fantastic wrestler from an incredible wrestling program, he's having a great season for the 8-4 Wildcats.

"I think this year I'm bigger and I think that's a big difference," he said. "Plus a lot of the guys I wrestled last year have moved up a weight class."

With half of the season already over and just about six weeks left of his high school wrestling career, Strem, one of the team's captains, would like to make a final splash.

"I want to win the Cape Ann League [championship]," he said. "I definitely want to place at the state [meet] and I want my name on the [wrestling's room] wall."

"I think I'm more motivated this year [than last year]. I've been running more after practice and I have more desire this year."

One of the areas Strem has admitted he's improved on is his consistency. Last year there were times when he pinned Joe Smith but then saw Smith pin him the following week. He said that experience has been a big part of that, but certainly having the supporting cast around him has definitely elevated his focus.

"We have a great team," he said. "We have a real good group of freshmen. I think there's 18 of them and they're all good kids - no pains in the butts. I really can't believe how well we're doing as a team. We have great chemistry on the team and I think that's been a big difference."

"[Co-captain] John McMahan has really done a good job. He gets everyone together and he'll make sure they are doing what they are suppose to. He's a great leader - I'm just quiet."

And Justin Strem is quietly putting together a very good season with lots of potential to make it a great one.

Martyn part of World Record

Former Wilmington High resident Doug Martyn, who is now a resident of North Andover, recently was a part of a World Record. Martyn, who graduated from WHS and went on to UMass and Suffolk for his master's degree, is a member of the Whirlaway Masters Racing Team. He along with Mike Cooney, Paul Hammond and Craig Fram combined to set a national record in the 4x1600 race with a time of 17:51.3 which was ten seconds better than the previous record mark according to the foursome's coach Dave Kazanjian, and the Eagle Tribune newspaper.

The race was held at Boston University on Saturday, January 5th. On Tuesday, January 8th, the Tribune reported that the record wasn't official but since then it's been confirmed that it is.

Cooney's split was 4:28.9, Hammond ran a 4:28.2 split and Fram paced himself at 4:26.6. Martyn, who ran third leg, finished at 4:27.8 as he ran for his high school coach and the legend Frank Kelley, who has retired from Wilmington High School as a teacher and a track coach.

"For four guys over 40 (years old), those are great times, and it's unbelievable that they were so close (in times)," Kazanjian told the Tribune.

The team will be back at it again on February 9th at BU when they participate in the Valentine's Meet.

Squirt C's successful in District Playdowns

The Wilmington Squirt C's, sponsored by the Wilmington Arena Authority, had a successful three days last week as they continued their winning ways in Dual State. They played very well in the District 10 Playdowns and upset the undefeated Valley League leaders in exciting action.

Wilmington 7, Andover 3
Wilmington seems to have Andover's number this year as they defeated their neighbors to the north for the fourth time this season. Andover came into this game undefeated in six straight overall games and with only one loss in their last 10. That loss came when the Wildcats beat them just before Christmas. The result Thursday evening was similar as Wilmington played well enough to win 7-3.

The ice may have been soft but at 10:47 of the first period Sean Keane and Pat Boudreau moved the puck well enough to help Eric Parsons jam in a goal from in front. At 9:24 Paul Duffy put Wilmington up 2-0 when he skated in from center ice. Brendan Collins and defenseman Chris Robertson assisted on the play.

Wilmington struck again in the second period at 11:44, when Pat Enwright sent Matt Larffarello down the left side. Larffarello spotted winger Ryan Kennedy coming down the right side and he fed him a nice pass across the front. Kennedy moved in, fired high and put Wilmington up 3-0. Andover got on the board at 7:00 after goaltender Steve Cadigan made a stop on a hard shot but a rolling puck slipped over the line.

A double penalty to Andover cost them when Charles Barbaro netted a powerplay goal at 5:21. Duffy got the helper. Andover cut the lead to two at 4:05 when the Wilmington defense backed in too deep and an Andover forward moved in to snap one past Cadigan.

The officials had problems with uniform numbers on Wilmington's next goal. The line of Enwright, Kennedy and Larffarello struck again as this time Kennedy fed a pass across to Larffarello. Although there was confusion on the officials part as to who scored, it was Larffarello's quick shot that put Wilmington up 5-2. A Wilmington penalty put Andover on the powerplay and an Andover forward's top left corner shot closed the gap to two once more.

An Andover tripping penalty hurt as, on the powerplay, defenseman Cody Wilkins carried up ice and fired a low shot, beating the goaltender at 8:03. Thirty seconds later Wilkins and Barbaro combined to get the puck up to Duffy. Duffy skated in and his low shot went through for his second goal of the game and capped off the scoring at 7-3.

The defense played well. Wilkins, Robertson and Charlie Gendron kept the Andover forwards in check and moved the puck up ice, creating offensive chances. The win kept the Wildcats in first place in the Northwest Division of the Dual State League with a 6-1-0 record.

Reading B 2, Wilmington 0
On Friday the Squirt C's traveled to the Tsongas Arena in Lowell to compete in the Mass. Hockey District 10 Playdowns. The players were excited to be playing in the home of the Lock Monsters and expected a fierce battle with first round opponent Reading, the first place undefeated Reading

C's. What they did not expect was to arrive at the rink and find they were actually bracketed into a higher level and had to face the Reading B team.

Once they were on the ice, the Wildcats didn't seem fazed by the larger ice surface or their bigger, more experienced opponents. They came out skating and played extremely well. The defense again was very good. Charlie Gendron stopped several rushes. Chris Robertson stole some Reading passes and moved the puck up ice. Cody Wilkins stood his ground and after breaking up plays, alertly cleared the puck. Goaltender Steve Cadigan made several big saves and wisely moved the puck away from the crease.

The scoreless first period instilled a confidence in the Wildcats and they continued their fine play with hustle and skating. Pat Enwright, Ryan Kennedy and Matt Larffarello harassed the Rocket forwards with intensive back checking. Paul Duffy, Charles Barbaro, and Brendan Collins pressured the defense with deep forechecking. Patrick Boudreau, Eric Parsons and Sean Keane pounded the boards and corners aggressively.

Reading caught a break at 9:41 after Cadigan made a quick stick save. The puck came out to a Reading forward who fired a shot back towards the net. Gendron slid across the front, blocking the shot. Unfortunately another Reading forward jumped on the loose puck and tapped it in for the game's first score.

For the rest of the game Wilmington continued to skate hard and set up plays but were not able to crack the Reading goal. With only 1:31 left in the game Reading scored again on a follow up rebound. The Wildcats fought until the final seconds to notch a goal and even though the result would remain 1-0, they had nothing to be ashamed of. They played a great game in a higher tier than they expected to be in and showed, when skating as they're capable of, they can compete with anyone.

Wilmington 4, Reading C 2
About 16 hours after being eliminated from the District 10 Playdowns, the Squirt C's moved down to the MVL II in Malden Saturday morning to face the Reading team they thought they were playing the previous evening. The first place Rocket squad came into the game undefeated in the regular season and had not given up a goal in their previous three games. Wilmington had beaten Reading back in the parity season, so they knew they were capable of defeating the Rockets if they played well. A little vengeance for the beating Reading had given them in the Christmas Tournament may also have been on their minds.

The confidence the Wildcats gained on Friday night from their play against the B team carried over and they came out skating hard. At 8:01 of the first period Reading's unscored upon streak was snapped when Pat Enwright put Wilmington up 1-0 with an assist from Sean Keane.

At 9:40 of the second period Wilmington went up 2-0 when Brendan Collins netted the puck with assists to Paul Duffy and Charles Barbaro. Reading came right back off the ensuing faceoff to put a quick close-in shot past goalie Steve Cadigan but there was no let down in Wilmington's game. Their tenacious fore-checking and crashing the net style paid off at 8:43 when Matt Larffarello jammed home a goal with a crowd in front. Enwright picked up the assist on the play. Reading cut the lead to one again with 55 seconds remaining in the period with a quick wrist shot.

The third period saw Wilmington play some of their best hockey of the season. With a complete team effort they out-hustled and out-played the division leaders. The defense was excellent. Ryan Kennedy, Chris Robertson, Charlie Gendron, and Cody Wilkins all blocked shots and stole passes. They alertly cleared the zone, preventing Reading from setting up. The shots that did get through were handled superbly by Cadigan, as he was on top of his game in this one. At one point, he came out to cut down the angle on a hard shot, forcing the shooter to shoot wide and ring it off the post.

Once again, the forwards got back quickly to aid the defense and thwart the usual top notch passing of Reading. Enwright, Barbaro, Keane, Duffy, Collins, Eric Parsons and Pat Boudreau all hustled at both ends of the ice, constantly frustrating the Rockets.

With 1:30 left in the game, Reading lifted their goalie for the extra skater. The Wilmington defense hung tough with the late pressure and then Keane got control of the puck and fired it down ice into the open net, insuring the well deserved 4-2 victory. The win moves the Wildcats to within two points of first place Reading. With the third round Valley League schedule yet to be released, Wilmington will not be in action until next Tuesday with a Dual State match-up against Burlington.

Squirt B's face Hawks

The Wilmington Squirt B team gets back to winning ways in Dual State action against the North Middlesex Hawks. Playing with a full squad for the first time since Christmas the Wildcats spotted the Hawks a first period goal, giving them the lead until Lewis Robertson's second period goal got the Cats into it.

Robertson, in tight and beneficiary of some neat passing by line mates Jared Hayes and Danny Roy was able to crack the Hawks goalie to tie things up. Up until that point the Cats were frustrated time and again by the skilled Hawks goalie. There would be plenty of back and forth play with many opportunities for both teams well into the third period before the Wildcats opened things up. With five minutes to play quick passes by defenseman Brendan Foley and center Matt Farrell sent Matt Kincaid in on the left with Liam Gately in stride to the right. The Hawks goalie played the pass only to have Kincaid bury the shot for the lead. Less than a minute later Philip D'Arcangelo collected the puck from the ever-hard working Chris Thibault and top shelled a backhand to keep the Cats cranking.

Smelling victory the tenacious Cats continued to pound shots at the beleaguered Hawks goalie, blasting from all angles and positions, including serious rubber from the point positions occupied by Paul Bruce, Jesse Rossetti and Brendan Foley. This fierce attack allowed the forwards to stay down low and working the boards giving Frankie Sorrentino the opportunity to pop a pass out front to Chris Thibault who potted the final goal. When the whistle blew the Cats descended on their goalie Peter Cushing giving him the well-deserved congratulations for stonewalling the opposition through the last two periods.

Wilmington vs Cambridge
The Wilmington Squirt B hockey team faced off against the Cambridge Squirt A team in District 10 playdown action. Playing with poise and confidence the Wildcats skated off with the win at the Tsongas Arena. Peter Cushing the Cat's ace goalie shut down the Cambridge team, recording a shut-out as the Cats were able to post three scores for the victory.

The Wildcats got on the board in the third period when defenseman Paul Bruce stepped in low to keep the pressure on the Cambridge goalie, notching an assist as Liam Gately flipped home a rebound. The game remained tight and tense as both teams applied offensive pressure through the second and into the third period without any scores. Nice forechecking and back checking by wingers Jared Hayes and Matt Kincaid kept the Cambridge team off their game while the Cats continued to try to exploit.

With less than seven minutes to play the Cats, still looking for insurance, found it when Danno Roy completed a nice setup by Brendan Foley to Lewis Robertson on the breakout. As the action continued Cambridge never gave up pushing hard, but was thwarted time and again by the defenseman. With Jesse Rossetti owning the blue line and center Matt Farrell winning key faceoffs the Cambridge team was unable to sustain any attack.

The Cats eventually put the game away with a goal by Chris Thibault off the hard work of linemates Frankie Sorrentino and Philip D'Arcangelo. Nice work by coaches Larry Cushing, Paul Bruce and Jerry Thibault prepared the boys for playdown action. The Cats travel back to the big top Monday to continue action in the single elimination tournament.

Squirt E's hook up in rematch

The Wilmington Squirt E's, sponsored by Darmody, Merlino & Co., played a rematch against Cape Ann to start the New Year Tuesday, January 1, 2002. The previous time these two teams played each other the game ended in a tie.

Ed Sheridan played net and allowed only one shot to go in out of a total 16 shots on net. The defense of Dean Moran, Scott Layton, Tim Patrie, Melissa Good and Chris Colosimo really controlled their end of the ice. The first period ended with neither team being able to put one past either goalie. The second period saw a nice goal by Tim Marten at 9:45 assisted by Dean Moran. Wilmington scored again at 7:51 as Tim Patrie, fresh from the penalty box, scored a breakaway goal unassisted. Cape Ann responded with a goal of their own but Chris Colosimo blasted a bullet from the point at 2:52, ending the second period with Wilmington leading 3-1.

In the third period, Martin scored again at 10:07 assisted by Ryan Brothers. Justin Rivera scored Wilmington's final goal at 4:30 assisted by Marten. The remaining offense of Joe Favuzza, Steven Piscatelli, Ryan Derian, Corey Lee, and Matt Kasparian all contributed to keeping the offensive pressure on.

*Wilmington's 5-1 win keeps them in first place in the Squirt Gold North Division of the Valley League with a 7-1-2 record.

Squirt D's enjoy games at the big arenas

The Wilmington Squirt D hockey team went upscale during the last week and a half, playing first on the NCAA Division I ice at Merrimack College on January 5 and then entering the hallowed AHL portals of the Tsongas Arena in Lowell for the District 10 play downs last Sunday. There was some, but not all, good news to go with the thrill of playing at the big time rinks.

Wilmington took on and took out Valley League competitors from the Beverly B team 4-0 at Merrimack College in its second game of 2002, and did so with style. Coming off an earlier 2002 win the day after New Year's, the D's roared against a light Beverly squad, which, despite having only two lines, skated hard all three periods.

Andrew Flodin jump started the Wildcats in the first period when he did a 360-degree twirl at the left sideboards just inside the Beverly blue line to take control of a loose puck and then hit Jon See with an accurate pass in the middle to set up Wilmington's first score. Later in the first, Dom McCann stole the puck, skated it into Beverly's zone and at the last second dished off a backhand pass to Cole Carter, who likewise didn't miss his chance to put the Cats up two-zip.

After a scoreless second frame, the D's got their motors working again in the third for two more goals. Bret Kidik lit the lamp with a hard, high shot that John Moriarty set up by quickly taking a Brian Coutu feed and skating it into Beverly's zone. John See then punched in the Cats' fourth and final tally when Beverly goalie Phil Carter anticipated a referee's whistle and inadvisably let the puck loose in front of the net after covering up a Tom Callahan shot.

Defenseman Kyle Gaffey also got an assist on that goal, and later in the period helped safeguard the shutout for Wildcat netminder Zach Rosa by busting up a Beverly breakaway. Rose himself didn't have too shabby a game, devouring all eight Beverly shots on net.

Last Sunday the D's had a real treat, though, when they played their district play down game against the Medford C team at the first rate Tsongas Arena. Unfortunately for Cats, the game outcome wasn't the icing on the treat, as they fell to Medford 4-3 in an overtime showdown.

Medford contained the Wildcats, who had been idle for a week, with a high pressured game plan that caused the D's to commit penalties and lose some of their usual playmaking effectiveness.

Things were looking less than promising when Wilmington immediately got into penalty trouble and Medford went up 2-0 in the first period on a pair of nifty Zach Goroshko goals. But center Jon See came through for Wilmington when he took a Tom Callahan cross net shot and converted it into the D's first score to make it 2-1 after one.

Showing some choppy but persistent play in the second period, Wilmington got back into the game with its own pair of goals to go on top 3-2. John Moriarty nailed the first in front of the net just before being tripped, and just after Bret Kidik and Brian Coutu had worked the puck into him from the middle. Coutu then lifted the second goal in after coming off of the bench and finding an unattended puck gliding ahead of him in the Medford zone. Sam Grant got the assist.

Defensively, Grant later also made a spectacular play breaking up a one-on-one, and goalie Zach Rosa pounced on a loose puck and gloved a hard shot to hold the lead.

The Wilmington Mite C's, sponsored by Phoenix Foods, played back to back games on Sunday. The first game was in Wilmington at 6 a.m. The Wildcats took on Tewksbury in a Valley League game.

Brendan Munro, in net for Wilmington, faced 12 shots stopping nine of them. He made some great saves keeping the game close. Wilmington lost 3-2. Scoring for Wilmington were Justin Ferreira and Daniel Creedon with David Sugrue and Domenic Dirupo getting assists.

Playing defense for both games were Connor Brennan, Tyler MacInnis, Brett Meuse, Matt Dee and Frankie Mearls. They did a good job limiting the number of shots on net. They also cleared the puck from the zone and sent it up ice to the offense.

The line of Sara Alonardo, Patrick Magliano and Kelly Brandano played well keeping pressure in the Tewksbury zone. Daniel Creedon, John Hughson and John Langenfeld made some great passes and had a number of shots

Starting the third period with a tenuous one goal edge, the Cats' defense ratcheted things up. Kyle Gaffey came through with a number of blocks and clearing passes, Alex Williams broke up a scoring chance and Sean Tavares and Brian Fitzpatrick kept Wilmington's shaky transition game moving forward. Medford broke through none-the-less at 4:55 of the period with a power play goal that tied it at three.

Netminder Zach Rosa then bore down hard to force the overtime by rejecting five shots, including one he alertly dropped on after the unusual aerial shot flew over his head, hit the cross bar and caromed back over his head into the crease for a near game winner.

Both teams stayed the course in overtime until a Medford breakaway forced Wilmington to take a tripping penalty with 1:09 left. That power play allowed Zach Goroshko the opportunity he needed to book his third goal of the game and give Medford the 4-3 sudden death win.

The D's would like to once again thank IBEW Local 2222 for generously sponsoring the team this season.

Mite C's remain busy with two games

on net. Domenic Dirupo, Justin Ferreira and David Sugrue were flying-swarming the net and keeping the pressure on.

Game two of the day, a dual state game against Billerica, was played in Chelmsford at 7:40 a.m. The kids wiped off their blades, put on skate guards and headed to game two.

The lines all remained the same for game two. Brendan Munro was in net again allowing only one by him. The Wildcats won 6-1. The difference in this game was the number of shots on net. Wilmington had 28 and Billerica had five.

Kelly Brandano and John Langenfeld each had two goals. Daniel Creedon and Domenic Dirupo each had one. John Hughson had three assists, Sara Alonardo and Daniel Creedon each had two assists. Having one assist each were Patrick Magliano, John Langenfeld, David Sugrue and Connor Brennan.

It was a great team effort with the defense doing a great job keeping the puck in the Billerica zone. The offense was able to get back and help the defense when the puck was in Wilmington's end. Brendan Munro looked great in net.

The kids skated hard for both games. It was amazing to think

Mite B's win, 4-1

Wilmington 4, Stoneham 1

The Wilmington Mite B's met the Stoneham Mite B's in a Dual State game Saturday afternoon. The Cats came out ready to play hockey, quickly taking the lead with a goal from Drew Cummings assisted by Craig Bernard and great passing work from Kevin Moriarty putting the Cats on the board. With 13 seconds left in the first period, Jimmy Stokes, on a pass from John Malone put the Cats ahead by two.

The Cats defensive lines of Tom Cushing, Dennis Gingras, John Malone, Cori Michals and Brian Good kept the heat on, stopping Stoneham's attempts to get a shot on net along with killing two power plays ending the first period in the before 9 a.m. they had played two games already. It shows how much the kids must really love hockey. Most of us think weekend mornings are for sleeping in, not hockey players, they think ice time.

The second period saw the Cats continue to play strong positional hockey with the only goal of the period being an unassisted goal by Andy Owens. The offensive lines of Adam Siegel, Chris Ryan, Adam Martinello, and Scott Deronde kept the pressure on Stoneham's goalie.

In the third period Stoneham got their only goal of the game when the puck barely slipped past goalie Joe Aucion putting Stoneham on the board, but the Cats weren't done and an unassisted goal from John Malone, again put the Cats on the board, giving them their second win of the Christmas break.

Seventh grade hoop team 14-3

The Wilmington seventh grade boys basketball team continued their strong play over the holidays extending their record to 14-3 on the season.

Wilmington traveled to Hampstead, N.H. December 22 as the Wildcats faced off for the first time against the boys from the North.

The Wildcats controlled early play as Nick Duggan threw in eight of his game high 15 points in the early going. Chris Dancoe chipped in with six big points as the Cats jumped out to an early 10 point lead. Hampstead tried to get back in this one but great shooting by Brendan DeMango and Kyle Borsetti allowed Wilmington to take a convincing 35-19 lead at the half.

The second half was more of the same as Greg Stewart hit for 12 points to lead the offensive barrage. Mike Thomas controlled the boards at both ends of the court and threw in six points of his own.

John Oliviere came up with the big steals that led to four points each by Tim Kent and Dan Patterson. The Cats coasted to a 57-45 victory.

The boys played only one game between Christmas and New Years when they hosted North Andover. The Scarlet Knights were the defending Cape Ann League champs and promised to be a threat for the defending Merrimack Valley League champs, Wilmington.

The Wildcats pressure defense proved to be too much for the visitors. Pat Ryan got Wilmington off to a strong start offensively with eight of his game high 12 points coming early in this one.

Dan Patterson threw in two big buckets and John Oliviere added four points as the Wildcats took a 25-10 lead into the locker room.

Chris Dancoe and Mike Thomas dominated the Knights on the defensive boards while Nick Duggan and Brendan DeMango played outstanding defense the entire game. Kyle Borsetti and Greg Stewart lead the offense from their point guard positions and Josh Mayo put things away with his four points late in the game. The Cats lead from start to finish and went on to a 44-22 victory.

The victory over North Andover extended the Wildcats record to 12-2 and set up rematches with the only two teams to defeat Wilmington this year, Haverhill and Chelmsford.

The Wildcats hosted Haverhill January 5. Wilmington played great defense from the start coming up with four big steals early in the game. Kyle Borsetti picked off a pass and led Pat Ryan for the game's first points. Unfortunately Wilmington was only able to convert one of the steals into points.

Haverhill struggled with the Wildcats defense early but kept things close for the first eight minutes. Then the Hillies got hot. Haverhill scored 10 straight points a 22-10 lead with five minutes left in the first half.

The Wildcats wouldn't quit as Nick Duggan hit two big buckets and Greg Stewart two of his own to close the gap to 22-16 at the half.

The Wildcats played inspired defense in the second half as Brendan DeMango, Dan Patterson, John Oliviere, Josh Mayo and Chris Dancoe held the Hillies at bay. Tim Kent threw in a big hoop and Mike Thomas scored off a tremendous offensive rebound to make the score 36-33 with less than a minute to play.

The Wildcats were forced to foul and Haverhill came up with two free throws to put this one away 38-33.

The boys had no time to ponder the Haverhill defeat as they next tapped off against Chelmsford. The Lions had defeated the Cats earlier in the season in a tough, close game.

Wilmington made some defensive adjustments to try to stop the Chelmsford offense that had the Wildcats stumped in their last meeting. Wilmington executed perfectly in the early going as Pat Ryan scored eight of his game high 11 points in the early going.

Pickett hitting the post in close. Andover quickly took control of the game in the third when they beat Babine on a breakaway and then again on a scramble in front to increase their lead to 4-1. Wilmington would not give up, the line of Cameron Owens, Nikhil Dixit and Nick Dirienzo continued the attack and had numerous chances to score, but the Andover goalie was equal to the task. Brian Callahan got the Wildcats closer when he picked up a loose puck in front of the net and put home the second goal of the game.

With a couple of minutes to play Wilmington pulled their goalie in an attempt to capitalize on the man advantage. The strategy almost worked when Cameron Owens beat the Andover goalie on a great move down low but hit the post on his attempt to score. It was a great effort by the Wildcats and the loss dropped their record to 5-4-2. They look to get back on the winning track with a win next week when divisional play continues.

The Wilmington Mite B's met the Methuen Mite A's at Methuen High School rink Sunday morning for a Valley League game. The Cats came out shooting and playing hard, taking the lead with a goal from John Malone assisted by Dennis Gingras and never looked back. The Cats again got on the board in the first period with a goal from Dennis Gingras assisted by Drew Cummings and John Malone. The Cats defensive lines of Tom Cushing, Cori Michals, Brian Good, Kevin Moriarty and Joe Aucoin played great defensive hockey killing four out of five power plays with Methuen scoring a short handed goal on Craig

Bernard bringing Methuen within one goal in the second period.

The Cats weren't done yet as John Malone, on a pass out in front of Methuen's net from Cori Michals gave the cats a two goal lead. The offensive lines of Adam Siegel, Jim Stokes and Chris Ryan, kept Methuen's goalie busy with repeated shots on net. The Cats continued to dominate the game as Adam Martinello, Andy Owens and Scott Deronde pushed past Methuen's defense and peppered Methuen's goalie with shots on net. The Cats ended the game with an unassisted goal by John Malone giving him a hat trick for the game and the Cats ended the year on a winning note.

Growing hospital philanthropy

Preventative Medicine

By PAUL FEELY

Nightly news reports in recent weeks have been filled with reports about local hospitals that either are failing financially or are on the verge of financial trouble. Layoffs are beginning at some area institutions, with doctors that aren't maintaining a steady patient flow being let go to free up funds to allow for the hiring of more nurses.

Two local Middlesex East men are taking steps to prevent such cutbacks from occurring at one Massachusetts hospital, giving their time and energy to make sure that patients in the western part of the state are well-cared for.

The New England Sinai Hospital Foundation began operations on October 1, 2001, with a clearly defined mission: to raise philanthropic funds to support the New England Sinai Hospital, located at 150 York Street in Stoughton, Massachusetts, in meeting the healthcare needs of its communities.

The Internal Revenue Service and the Secretary of the Commonwealth of Massachusetts recognize the foundation as a public charity that can solicit and accept tax-deductible contributions. The foundation has assumed the functions of the hospital's former development department.

Lynnfield resident Barry Koslow, JD, who serves as a principle of MKA Capital Planning of Wakefield, is the Chairman of the Board of Trustees of the New England Sinai Hospital Foundation. Richard Solomon, who was responsible for the hospital's fundraising efforts as Director of Development, has been named Executive Director of the new foundation.

Joining the two local men as charter members of the Board of Trustees are Mark Parrish, President of Crescent Ridge Dairy and Stephen De Cesare, President of Sharon Co-Operative Bank. Also serving on the foundation's initial board are members of the hospital's former Development Committee: Netti Sternklar, Harold Caro, and Ira Kaplan, President of Serv-O-Lift Eastern Corporation in Boston. Sinai President Donald Goldberg and Sinai President Donald Goldberg and Sinai Board of Director Chairman Harris Stone will serve as ex-officio trustees.

me story for 1/15 on Paul's "The Sinai Foundation's goal is to expand philanthropic support for patient care at New England Sinai Hospital," said Koslow, a Lynnfield native. "The newly-recruited members of the Foundation Board of Trustees are dedicated to the growth of philanthropy. Unlike the Hospital's Board of Directors, which is responsible for the governance of the entire hospital, Foundation Trustees will focus solely on fundraising for the hospital."

One of the problems that donors to hospital have experienced over the years is that when they make a monetary contribution, they often make it in memory of someone to help pay for a specific type of treatment or research. But when the funds reach the hospital, state regulations and rules mean that sometimes those funds end up going towards

Folks, a few of the many "AD-LIBBERS" whom I quote many times are: Yogi Berra, Casey Stengel, former manager of the New York Yankees baseball team and maybe the greatest, the late Sam Goldwyn. Yogi was asked: "Do you see anyone of the old gang that used to meet every Sunday morning in the neighborhood coffee shop?" Yogi replied, "Naw, nobody goes there anymore - it is too CROWDED." Casey said "The secret of my success as a baseball manager is my ability to keep the four guys who hate me AWAY from the five who haven't made up their minds yet." Sam Goldwyn said: "A verbal contract isn't worth the paper it is written on." My hometown AD-LIBBER Blackie Vega told me that he has been to California TWICE - once.

John Nardi asked me if Marconi the inventor of wireless radio was any relation? I told him "No, BUT my great grandfather was the inventor of the Wireless Bra." It was an UP-Lifting idea. Speaking of inventors my friends Stephen Rappa and Jimmy Fanikos, pharmacists, have patterned a formula. It's a bottle of Castor Oil and their invention added to a tank-full of gasoline. It will make an old Clunker of a car-Go-O-O-FASTER. With the high cost of Gas, it sure is welcomed news.

My Aunt Nora's husband Angelo was a deep sea fisherman. He drowned when his boat capsized in a storm leaving Aunt Nora a beautiful house and a sizeable bank account. "Not bad for a guy who couldn't read or write" I said. She smiled and added "Yes, and, he couldn't SWIM either!"

Folks, WE are Young and Useful at ANY AGE if we are still planning for TOMORROW! Ruth Pearlman asked a HOBO at the back door, "Would you like some of yesterday's chicken soup?" He smiled a mile wide and said, "OH! I'd love some." "Good" Ruthie told him, "Come BACK tomorrow!"

"Revolutionary Moment" at Griffin Center

Havana: The Revolutionary Moment presents a unique collection of never-before-seen photographs by veteran Magnum photographer Burt Glinn, recording Fidel Castro's historic entry into Havana. In the introductory memoir, Glinn describes the combination of chutzpah and journalistic pre-science that led him to leave a New York party and hop a plane to Havana on New Year's Eve, 1959.

The photographs he returned with - of Fidel thronged by his countrymen and women as he stopped to encourage them along the road to Havana, of troops embracing, and of fierce men and women alike taking up arms in the streets - are full of the revolutionary fervor and idealistic anticipation that characterized that moment in Cuban history.

The show opened to acclaim at the Fototeca de Cuba in Havana in January 2001 and has travelled to Madrid, London, Paris, Milan, and before returning to the United States to make its debut at the Griffin Center.

A member of the legendary Magnum photographic cooperative since the beginning of his career in 1950, Burt Glinn has served at different times as its president and chairman of board.

One of the original contributing editors of New York magazine, he is a past president of the American Society of Media Photographers. Glinn was born in Pittsburgh in 1925 and currently lives in New York.

something other than what the donor intended them for.

It is the intent of the New England Sinai Hospital Foundation to prevent that from happening again.

"The foundation also helps address donors' concerns about protecting their contributions from the unpredictable changes in health-care and state regulations that have led to hospital closings and financial difficulties," said Koslow. "As an organization that is separate from the hospital, the foundation will provide donors with the assurance that any restrictions they place on contributions to fund specific medical programs and projects will be protected in future years. The Foundation will also provide security for long-term endowment and planned gifts."

Before taking the position of newly-elected Chairman of the New England Sinai Hospital Foundation, Koslow served on the New England Sinai Hospital and Rehabilitation Center Board of Advisors from 1997 to 1998 and was elected as a member of the hospital Board of Directors. A principle in the firm of MKA Capital Planning in Wakefield, his community interests include serving as a member and the past chair of the Massachusetts Special Olympics and as a past member of the Lynnfield School Committee. He is a graduate of Northeastern University and received his law degree from Boston University. His professional organizations include the Massachusetts, Maine and American Bar Associations, Association for Advanced Life Underwriting and National Association of Health Lawyers.

Appointed Executive Director of the New England Sinai Hospital Foundation, Winchester's Richard Solomon has been with New England Sinai since assuming the position of Development Department

Director in 1997. He holds a bachelor of science in broadcast journalism from Syracuse University and a marketing certificate from Northeastern University. His background includes experience in fund development, public relations, television and radio news and his health care experience includes positions at Malden, Faulkner and New England Memorial Hospitals. He is a member of the Malden Lions Club, the Sinai Men's Associates and Community Health Issues Alliance (COHIA).

Body acidity may trigger pain in some diseases

What do heartburn, periodontal disease, fibromyalgia, diverticulitis, irritable bowel syndrome (IBS), interstitial cystitis (IC), gout and even osteoporosis have in common?

A growing number of doctors are getting to what they believe to be the heart of a common contributor to the pain from these diseases - body acidity.

As we age, our bodies naturally become more acidic. This is because we cannot absorb calcium, an alkali mineral that balances the body's pH, as easily as when we were younger.

Then, many make a bad situation worse by consuming acidic foods and beverages, which can lower the body's pH even further.

For example, the body's blood pH should be close to neutral at 7.0 pH, but the following foods and beverages are high in acid content with low pHs:

Coffee and tea, 4.7 to 5.3 pH;

Tomato products, 3.0 to 5.3 pH;

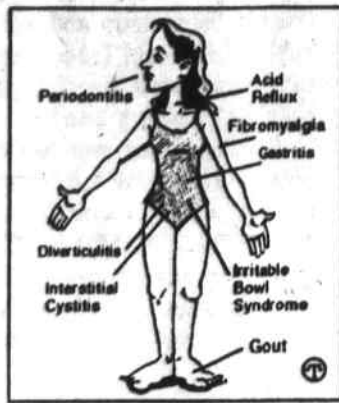

Wine 3.0 to 3.5 pH.

Citrus fruits, 1.5 to 3.0 pH;

Consuming these foods and beverages can raise the acidity in blood, urine and saliva.

Interstitial cystitis, a urinary disease that causes frequent and painful urination, currently has no cure.

However, IC patients report that, if they reduce the acid levels in their body and in the foods and beverages that they consume, the pain subsides.

There are natural ways to try and reduce the body's acidity, which can help with diseases that cause pain from head to toe.

Patients who suffer from irritable bowel syndrome, diverticulitis and fibromyalgia also report that symptoms of these diseases may be reduced when they lower the body's acidity levels.

Osteoporosis may have more to do with high acidic levels in the body than with the amount of calcium intake from dietary sources.

Some experts believe that if the body is out of balance pH wise, it will try to neutralize the pH by accessing calcium from either dietary calcium or bone mass, whichever is more available.

Gout is caused by uric acid forming crystals that settle in the body's lower extremities. When gout sufferers significantly reduce the acid levels in their bodies, the pain can be reduced.

One medical professional, Dr. C.R. Anderregg, a practicing periodontist in Bellevue, Washington, conducted a pre-clinical study over a six-month period with 10 severe cases of gum disease or periodontitis. He treated these patients with an acid reducing toothpaste and measured gum bleeding, an indicator of this disease.

He reported that these patients had a 90 percent reduction in bleeding and inflammation.

One theory is that when pH in human saliva is raised to a neutral level, the bacteria that cause periodontal disease can no longer survive in the mouth.

So if acid is the key, why not take plenty of antacids? First, many popular brands contain artificial ingredients such as aluminum hydroxide, which has been suspected to cause Alzheimer's Disease.

Second, many antacids contain larger amounts of calcium, which is hard to absorb and, when consumed too heavily, can cause constipation, kidney stones, bone spurs and certain kinds of arthritis.

A natural alternative to antacids exists with a new group of dietary and food supplements that reduce body acidity with highly effective, natural ingredients that have no negative side effects. For more information call 800-428-2637. Before taking any supplements, check with your doctor.

Epilepsy's effect on women

Epilepsy has long been misunderstood, often causing people with the disorder to be stigmatized or to receive inadequate health care. Although we no longer think that people with epilepsy are possessed by demons like in ancient times, much of the public and many health care providers still don't understand epilepsy - especially when it comes to the unique way it affects women.

More than two million Americans live with epilepsy, about half of whom are women and girls. It is one of the most common chronic health conditions affecting women of reproductive age. Many other women also use anti-epilepsy drugs (AEDs) to treat conditions such as migraines, pain conditions, and bipolar disorder. However, little is known about the effect of this treatment as it relates to females.

Epilepsy is a seizure disorder caused by brief, abnormal discharge of electrical activity in one's brain. Epilepsy is diagnosed through a combination of medical tests, a thorough medical history, plus discussion with a doctor. Most doctors diagnose patients as having epilepsy if they have two or more seizures. Among the many causes are infections, head injuries, brain tumors, brain injuries at birth and genetic predisposition. In the majority of people with epilepsy, a cause is never discovered. Seizures can last a few seconds or several minutes and symptoms range from a blank stare to a jerking motion in arms and legs. Because of the variety of seizure symptoms, epilepsy is often confused with and misdiagnosed as fainting, migraines, or panic attacks.

"Epilepsy in women can be very complicated because it's often hard to distinguish the effects of the illness from the effects of the medications used to manage seizures," says Martha Morrell, M.D., an epilepsy specialist at Columbia University College of Physicians and Surgeons in New York.

Women with epilepsy can experience a host of reproductive and sexual problems, excessive weight gain, and osteoporosis compared to women in the general population. Further complicating matters is that the majority of health care professionals, who responded to a survey conducted by Dr. Morrell, are unaware of the impact of epilepsy and its treatment on women.

The good news is that recent studies are showing that certain AEDs are less likely than others to be related to some of these female-specific effects. Dr. Morrell advises all women and girls with epilepsy, and those who are prescribed AEDs for they and their physicians are aware of potential concerns relating to the use of these medications in females. One source of information is the Epilepsy Foundation's Women and Epilepsy Initiative, launched in 1997 to help women manage the effects of epilepsy and its treatment in their daily lives.

For more information about women and epilepsy, contact the Epilepsy Foundation at 1-800-EFA-1000.

Movie Reviews

by Paul Feely

"A Beautiful Mind" is good entertainment

MOVIE: "A BEAUTIFUL MIND"

GRADE: ****

Review: Russell Crowe and Jennifer Connelly turn in Oscar-caliber performances in this film by director Ron Howard.

Crowe plays the brilliant mathematician John Forbes Nash, Jr., who suffered from schizophrenia but managed to keep it under control well enough to win a Nobel Prize, with the help of his devoted wife Alicia, played by Connelly. Crowe's depiction of Nash is masterful, allowing the audience to walk the same fine line between reality and mental illusion that Nash constantly traveled.

In a lesser role, Ed Harris brings a strong presence to the part of a government agent who enlists Nash to help break codes during wartime, which only serves to aggravate his condition.

SHORTTAKES

MOVIE: "THE ROYAL TENENBAUMS"

GRADE: ***

Review: Gene Hackman

heads up an all-star cast in this all-star film about a severely dysfunctional family trying to come together before the patriarch passes on.

Hackman plays Royal Tenenbaum, a millionaire who returns home to his ex-wife in an attempt to make amends with her and his grown children, played by Gwyneth Paltrow, Ben Stiller, and Luke Wilson. He has just six weeks to live, and he wants to correct the error of his ways before it is too late.

Bill Murray is very funny as Paltrow's estranged husband, as is Stiller. The comedy can be a bit over the top at times, but overall it works.

MOVIE: "THE LORD OF THE RINGS - THE FELLOWSHIP OF THE RING"

GRADE: ****

Review: Director Peter Jackson has wrapped up a beautiful gift and presented it to movie fans everywhere, just in time for the holiday season.

Jackson's take on J.R.R. Tolkien's wildly popular trilogy about a small Hobbit who is assigned the task of saving Middle Earth brings the characters to life in a way that is faithful to the story, yet easy to follow to those that have never read a single page of the book it is based on.

Elijah Wood is perfectly cast as Frodo Baggins, the Hobbit who inherits a powerful ring that can bring the power to rule over the lands of Middle Earth. It contains the spirit of the dark lord Sauron, and his minions will stop at nothing to possess it to bring their master back to life and plunge the world into darkness. The only way it can be destroyed is to through it into a pit of fire on Mt. Doom, where it was created, and Frodo and the other members of the Fellowship of the Ring set out on an adventure to destroy the magical item.

The photography, featuring remote parts of New Zealand, is stunning, as are the special effects. Ian McKellen embodies the best traits of the wizard Gandalf, and Viggo Mortenson as Aragon and John Rhys-Davies as a Dwarf warrior help bring the story to life with care and conviction.

The only thing bad about this film is that viewers must now wait one year until the next installment in the trilogy is released, near Christmas, 2002.

School Notes

by Phyllis Nissen

Read all about it!

By the book in Woburn and Reading

"Katie's Pond," a lovely and informative children's book by Reading resident Jeanne Freeman, a teacher in Woburn, is now in stores and available for purchase," notes the Reading edition of the "Daily Times Chronicle."

"The book mixes real life and fiction to tell the tale of a second-grade teacher and students from the Clapp Elementary School taking a walk around a nearby pond, learning about the plant and animal life, and enjoying the natural beauty."

"Freeman, who wrote the book as her master's thesis, has taken her students on educational walks around the real life Horn Pond, which is directly across the street from the Clapp School, for years. Many teachers at the school use the pond as a source of inspiration for school projects."

"All the book's details about the flora and fauna are reportedly true to the area and several of the book's characters are also based on real-life students and colleagues of Freeman's."

"The 'Katie' of the title is a composite of a student in one of Freeman's classes and the daughter of a good friend, who grew up right near Horn Pond."

"Freeman noted that one young man who was the basis for the character of 'Brendon' has even been signing autographs since the book was published."

"The book has plenty of other local connections as local artist Anne Recchia, Freeman's friend since the third grade in Reading, provided the beautiful watercolor illustrations and Woburn attorney/author John McElhiney and his wife, Sheila Tracey McElhiney, acted as publishers.

"About 2,000 copies of the book were printed and are being sold for $14.95, plus tax..."

A gold rush in Tewksbury

"Ten-year-old Tewksbury resident Jessica Herlihy promised that she would perform her best at the Junior Olympics and she did," notes the "Tewksbury Town Crier."

"She and her three teammates combined their best efforts in the team cheer dance and brought home a gold medal, outperforming the other teams in their age bracket."

"It felt really good to win a medal," Jessica says, "I've never won a medal before."

"Jessica, her mother and her group arrived in Virginia Beach, Virginia. Jessica has been practicing cheerleading and dance movements for four years at Mill City Gymnastics, and this year she was chosen to participate in the Junior Olympics. Participants in the Olympics must raise their own funds to compete, so Jessica had spent the last several months obtaining sponsors."

"We signed the girls up at the Norfolk Coliseum and went to the opening ceremony that Wednesday evening," says Pat Herlihy, Jessica's mother. "The ceremony was impressive. There were fireworks, performers doing dances and the display of an American Flag that was the size of a football field. We stayed to watch the torch lighting. It is so like the Olympics. It was an incredible event."

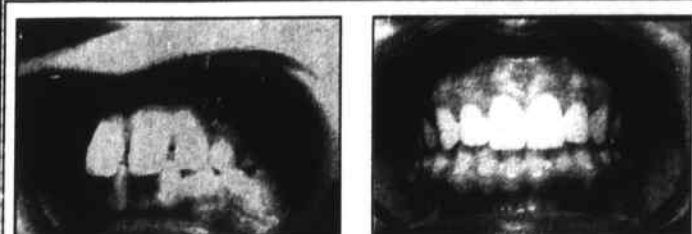

"We performed as individuals, doing cheerleading movements to music. I had my own music," says Jessica. "I was wicked nervous..."

Making history in Reading

"Lisa M. Litterio, a senior at Reading Memorial High School, recently visited Mrs. Louise Sandberg at the Lawrence Public Library to present to the City of Lawrence a copy of her National History Day 2000 First Place award-winning video documentary and a copy of 'Labor's Heritage,' a national quarterly publication, on the subject of 'The Bread and Roses Strike of 1912, Lawrence, MA: Immigrants usher in a New Era of Unity, Labor Gains, and Women's Rights,'" notes the Reading edition of the "Daily Times Chronicle."

"Lisa won first place prizes at the state and national levels for her in-depth research relating to the causes of the strike and the results affecting laborers all across America. Sandberg, a resident of Reading and reference librarian at the Lawrence Public Library."

"Lawrence Mayor Patricia Dowling expressed her appreciation to Lisa for her comprehensive research efforts in calling attention to the role Lawrence played in effecting positive changes for America's workers at the turn of the 20th century. Mayor Dowling also issued letters of commendation, not only to Lisa, but also to Sandberg and her staff at the Lawrence Public Library for their outstanding professionalism in helping young activists...."

New trend House with versatility popular

The Brittany is a midsize home with the possibility of up to five bedrooms. In this, it typifies one of several trends that have developed since the inception of Associated Design's weekly column, 10 years ago.

In 1991, only 28 percent of new homes had four or more bedrooms. Now 36 percent do, despite a reduction in the average family size to 2.6 per household. Few buyers actually use all these rooms for sleeping.

In the Brittany, the two rooms to the right of the entry are conveniently located for alternate uses, such as home office or hobby room.

Light streams into the entry through a sidelight and transom. This naturally bright space is a junction for a multiplicity of rooms and hallways.

On the left is the dining room (or parlor). Dining rooms have come back into favor in the past 10 years, while formal living rooms have dropped in popularity.

Windows fill most of the two walls in the vaulted family room, and more light washes in through sliding glass doors in the nook. A gas fireplace tucked in the rear corner serves as a warm focal point when darkness falls or skies turn gray. This room typifies the great room concept that most families now prefer.

Working in the kitchen, you can keep tabs on goings-on throughout the family room, nook and patio. Cupboard and counter space are amply supplied, and the long eating bar keeps family members and guests out of the way while allowing them to chat with kitchen workers.

Laundry appliances are nearby, in a passthrough utility room that connects to the three-car garage. 10 years ago, garages this large were rare.

Amenities in the Brittany's master suite include a large walk-in closet, dual vanity, private water closet, and an over-size walk-in shower. The master suite also offers direct access to the patio, and is well-isolated from the secondary bedrooms, reflecting yet another trend.

For a review plan, including scaled floor plans, elevations, section and artists' conception, send $25 to Associated Designs, 1100 Jacobs Dr., Eugene, OR 97402. Please specify the Brittany 30-317 and include a return address when ordering. A catalog featuring over 350 home plans is available for $15. For more information, call (800) 634-0123.

Despite economy Homeowners can feel secure

As economic uncertainty continues, more and more Americans are facing financial strain resulting from layoffs. For many in a compromised financial situation, keeping up with mortgage payments is the most worrisome. However, some lenders, including Wells Fargo Mortgage, are eager to help homeowners through difficult times.

"The most important thing homeowners can do if they're in a difficult financial situation is to notify their lender early," said Tom Gamache, Vice president Regional Manager over the Reading area for Wells Fargo Home Mortgage. "The sooner a customer tells us about a change in their financial situation, the more options we have available to help."

Wells Fargo outlined some of the solutions it may offer customers in a compromised financial situation:

Moratorium: A suspension of payments for up to 90 days.

Repayment plans: Past due payments are slowly repaid according to an agreed upon schedule.

Loan Modification: Past due payments are applied to the principal balance of the loan. the loan term, interest rate and payment schedule may be modified.

"Encountering financial difficulties now and then is part of life. Whether it's due to a job loss or a medical situation, we want to help our customers get through it get back on track," Gamache said. "The bottom line is, we lose money when a customer loses their home. By working with our customers through difficult times, we're creating a win-win situation for both parties."

As a result of its ability to prevent foreclosures, Wells Fargo has earned the highest service performance rating awarded by the Federal Home Loan Mortgage Corporation (Freddie Mac). Wells Fargo Home Mortgage also earned the highest service performance rating assigned by Fitch, Inc., a company that rates financial institutions. These designations recognize Wells Fargo Home Mortgage's success at minimizing foreclosures through the effective use of solutions that help customers recover from a delinquent payment status.

"Wells Fargo Home Mortgage is not only a leader in helping our customers achieve the dream of homeownership, but also among the best at keeping our customers in their homes," Gamache said.

For more information about mortgage products and services, visit Wells Fargo Home Mortgage on the Internet at www.wellsfargo.com/mortgage/, or call 1-800-222-3408 for information on the branch in your area.

Colonial Manor names 2001 "Goal Setters"

Colonial Manor Realty, its owners Bobbie Botticelli and Rick Nazzaro, along with all associates, wish to congratulate their "Goal Setters" for 2001.

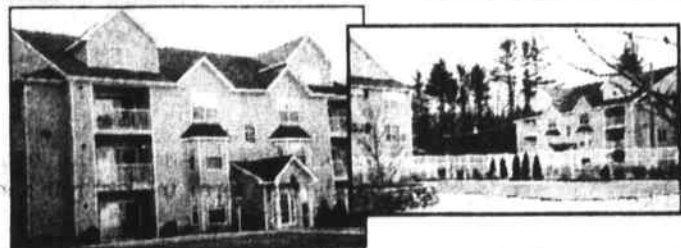

Diane Giglio, Gina Botticelli-Amico, Shirley Slack, Diana Kaine and Ron Freni each achieved sales in excess of the goals set with them back in January of 2001. "We decided to implement a 'Goal Setting' program for several reasons" explains Co-Owner Bobbie Botticelli. "Setting a goal to strive for at the beginning of the year is a strong motivator and also helps an agent to focus on an objective."

"And," adds Partner Rick Nazzaro, "our associates know that, in such a highly competitive business, they must continually improve upon their skills and service to customers and clients. So, everyone benefits."

According to Botticelli and Nazzaro, a successful Colonial Manor realty enjoyed a prosperous year with $50 million in sales. As with all Colonial Manor Realty associates, these six "Goal Setters" are perfect examples of what hard work, dedication and loyalty to their customers and clients can, and will achieve.

The goals for 2002 have been set and Colonial Manor realty is well on the way to another banner year.

Try warming up in front of a new gas fireplace

Natural gas fireplace equipment is gaining in popularity, as consumers seek greater convenience and an alternative to the environmental and health effects associated with wood burning fireplaces and stoves.

Natural gas fireplaces resemble wood-burning fireplaces, but include ceramic logs that give the appearance of burning wood when surrounded by flames fed by a gas jet. No chimney is needed because natural gas fireplaces can be vented directly through an outside wall. Some can be turned on and off via remote control.

Many consumers prefer natural gas fireplaces because of the convenience - no wood to chop and stack, no ashes to clean and no smoldering cinders at bedtime.

In an effort to improve air quality and assist individual with respiratory problems, many communities ban or limit the use of wood-burning fireplaces and woodstoves. These wood burning units are one of the largest sources of the tiny "particulates" that aggravate breathing problems, especially in children, and cause visible air pollution, according to the Environmental Protection Agency.

Sales of natural gas hearth products are growing 20 to 35 percent each year, far more than the modest 5 percent pace of the fireplace market as a whole, according to the Gas Research Institute. More than one of every four new fireplaces burns natural gas because builders and consumers increasingly choose gas hearth products over traditional wood-burning fireplaces.
